PROTECTION BY BRITISH NAVY FOR REFUGEES

Spanish Insurgents Informed Bilbao People Being Moved to France Will Be Guarded

Italo-Germans In Battle Are 18,000

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, May 3.—Five thousand children will shortly sail from Bilbao, north in Spain, under the shelter of British guns. They will be the first contingent in a great movement of Bilbao's civil population to France.

British and French merchant ships in the neighborhood will co-operate in evacuating civilians, it was reported today as Spanish insurgent forces neared Bilbao. Coast guns will safeguard the passage of the merchantmen through territorial waters.

No hostages will be included among the refugees. The British consul at Bilbao will see no political preference is shown.

ANNOUNCEMENT CHEERED

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons this afternoon British warships had been instructed to "afford all possible protection on the high seas to any ships leaving Bilbao with non-combatant refugees on board" despite the protest of General Franco, leader of the Spanish insurgents.

Cheers greeted the announcement. "A reply has been received from the insurgent authorities recognizing the humanitarian and impartial motives of His Majesty's government and its feeling the proposals for a number of reasons and making alternative proposals," Mr. Eden stated.

"I would make it clear that His Majesty's government in turn intends, nevertheless, to give the assistance to which I have referred."

ITALIANS KILLED

By the Havas News Agency
Bilbao, Spain, May 3.—Defending forces "decimated" an Italian brigade northeast of Bilbao, it was claimed here today as Basque officials charged that 18,000 Germans and Italian troops and 110 foreign planes are operating with the insurgents on the northern front.

Official radio reports said leftist troops had killed 400 members of an Italian "Black Arrow" brigade in bitter fighting in the Basque sector, about fifteen miles northeast of Bilbao, yesterday.

Two insurgent attacks in the Guernica and Durango sectors, further to the southeast, were reported crushed with heavy losses.

BOY RISKS LIFE TO RESCUE DOG

Vancouver Police Say They Will Recommend Kenneth Weaver For Medal For Saving Pet From Plunging Over Cliff

Canadian Press

Vancouver, May 3.—Kenneth Weaver today vowed Vancouver policemen were "swell guys," and police said Kenneth would be recommended for a Humane Society medal—these declarations resulting from the rescue by two traffic officers and an unidentified stranger of the thirteen-year-old boy and his dog from almost certain death as they clung to a narrow ledge in Stanley Park yesterday.

Police said they would urge award of a medal to Kenneth in recognition of his attempt to rescue his dog, which had fallen to the ledge, twelve feet below the brink of a 100-foot cliff in Vancouver's seagirt park. A dog which had been frolicking with Kenneth's canine pal missed the ledge and dropped to its death on the rocks below.

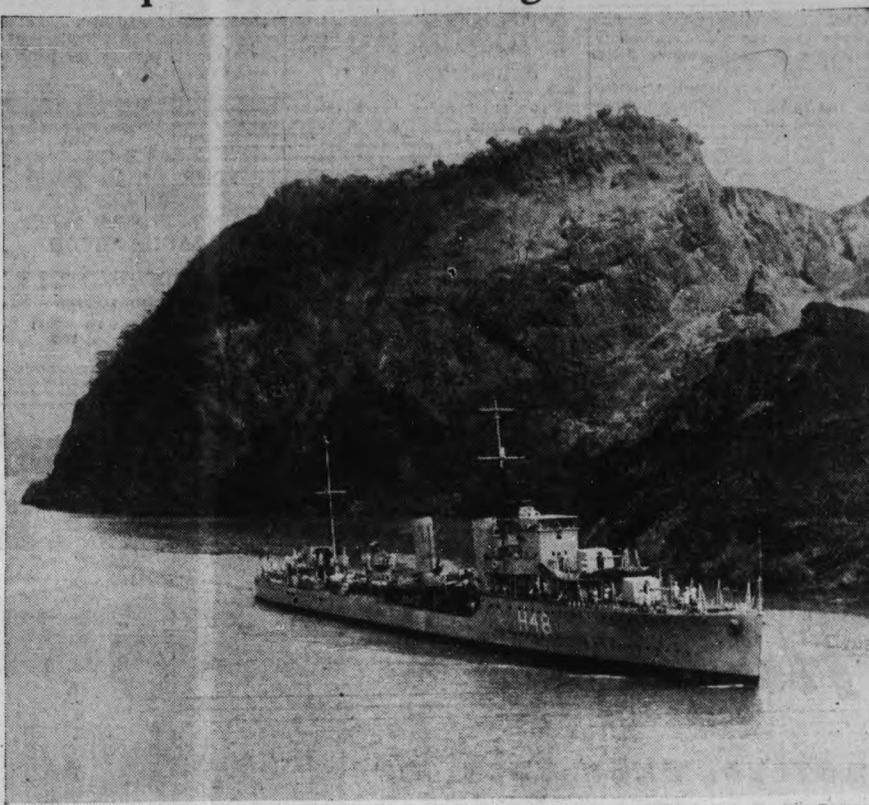

BELT AROUND DOG

Kenneth climbed down to the ledge and looped his belt around his dog's body, but found he was unable to scale the cliff.

His cries for help were answered by Constables Allan Ewins and Charles Boyd. Kenneth called he was slipping and could not hold on much longer.

With the help of a man whose name was not learned, the officers formed a human chain, sprawling down the uneven cliff face, with Ewins grasp-

In Half-minute Proceedings Judge in London Clears Way For U.S.-born Woman to Wed Duke of Windsor; Ex-king on Way to France

Associated Press

London, May 3.—The machinery of the British divorce court passed Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson's final divorce decree today, and the Duke of Windsor, who left the throne of the Empire for "the woman I love" left St. Wolfgang, Austria, for the French Touraine.

They are free to marry now whenever they choose—perhaps in the chapel of the Chateau de Candé, where Mrs. Simpson has been staying—probably not until after the Coronation of King George VI in London nine days hence.

London, 10.30 a.m.—Presiding Judge Sir Boyd Merriam in the divorce court approved seventy-eight final divorce cases, one of them "Simpson, W. vs. Simpson, E. A.," and said: "I pronounce the decrees absolute."

St. Wolfgang, Austria, Noon.—The Duke of Windsor, dressing for a mountain hike, answered the telephone, then announced through his adjutant: "The Duke is taking the 4 o'clock train at Salzburg—destination, Tours." Shortly after 4 he was traveling.

Bids Made On Malahat Work

Associated Engineering Co. Tenders $72,025 As Low Figure

Reconstruction of the Malahat Drive at Cousin's Hill, between mile 17.5 and mile 19, will cost $72,025, it was shown today when bids for the work were opened by Arthur S. Dixon, Deputy Minister of Public Works.

Associated Engineering Co. Ltd., who carried out the work on the Malahat during the last winter, were again low bidders with their figure of $72,025.

Other tenders were: Coast Quarries Ltd., $75,732; General Construction Co. Ltd., $77,140; Columbia Bitulithic Ltd., $79,466.40; and Dawson, Wade and Co. Ltd., $83,636.

The project involves a diversion of some size, relocating the highway to avoid bad turns on the hill.

Last year's work on the Malahat ran to $105,000.

Today's tenders were the first of a series to be called on the Dominion-provincial road projects.

On Wednesday bids are due for work on the Manson Creek road in Onalaska district.

NEW WARSHIP GREETED HERE

Fraser Steamed Into Her Base at Esquimalt This Morning From England

The early morning sunshine glistened on the snow-capped Olympics and the waters of the Straits were whipped into whitecaps as H.M.C.S. Fraser, latest destroyer to join Canada's Navy, steamed towards Esquimalt Harbor this morning from England.

By 7 o'clock the trim vessel was fast alongside the coaling wharf at the Naval Dockyard. She will remain there until her departure for the mainland where she will remain over the Coronation period.

Commander H. E. Reid, R.C.N., former captain of the Skeena, brought the Fraser into port.

"She's an excellent sea boat," the commander said. "Our trip was without incident. We ran into some fog in the Straits this morning and that delayed us."

JOINED AT BARBADOS

Commander Reid took over the Fraser at Barbados from Capt. V. G. Brodeur, who brought the ship from England to the West Indies. Capt. Brodeur then went aboard the Skeena and is now aboard her, en route to the Coronation Naval Review off Spithead later this month. The Saguenay is also crossing the Atlantic.

Officers of the Fraser this morning said the Atlantic crossing was a tough one, although the ship proved her seaworthiness. She was wet most of the time, but rode through great rollers in good style.

A few hours after the Fraser docked Commander Reid and his officers called on Commander C. T. Beard, R.C.N., commander-in-charge at Esquimalt and reported on their trip.

Crushing Defeat For Japan Ministry

No Other Government in Country's History Beaten So Completely at Polls, But Premier Is Refusing to Resign

Associated Press

Tokyo, May 3.—Premier Senjuro Hayashi indicated today he would refuse to heed widespread demands the government resign after its defeat at the polls Friday.

The army-supported Premier, who conferred lengthily with his cabinet and then had an audience with Emperor Hirohito, was reported planning either to combat or compromise with opposition political parties which retained about 400 of the 466 parliamentary seats.

It was believed the Premier could remain in office on the plea that a national emergency exists, making delay of new elections advisable for the country's stability. Political authorities forecast a period of internal tension.

Some observers predicted that Hayashi, even though he continues in office now, would be forced out when the Diet (parliament) convenes in August.

However, all the victorious parties, including proletarian groups that increased their representation, insisted it would be unconstitutional and illegal for the government to remain in power in defiance of the people's expressed disfavor.

Only eleven of the members elected were definitely committed to support of the government.

No government in Japan's history has received such a defeat at the polls.

The party line-up in the new House will be: Minseito, 179; Seiyukai, 175; Shikai, 175; Social Masses Party, 37; Showakai, 19; Kokumin Domei, 11; Tohakai, 11; Independents and others, 34.

MRS. PENDRAY PASSES AWAY

Pioneer Called to Rest Today; Resident Here Sixty Years

Victoria lost one of its "grand old ladies" with the death this morning of Mrs. Amelia Jane Pendray, widow of the late William J. Pendray, who passed away in her sleep at an early hour at her home, 309 Belleville Street. She was eighty-seven years of age, and for sixty years had been a resident of this city and one of its best-loved figures.

Mrs. Pendray was born in St. Just, Cornwall, England, and is survived by two sons, J. Carl Pendray, former mayor of Victoria, and Herbert J., of Esquimalt Lagoon, who is at present visiting in Europe, and three brothers, Edwin, in Kansas; and Dick, in England, and one sister, Mary, in England.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the Metropolitan United Church, Rev. E. F. Church officiating. The funeral arrangements are in the hands of the Sands Mortuary.

HERE SINCE 1877

It was on April 22, 1877, that the then Miss Amelia Carthew sailed from Liverpool for New York on the first stage of her long journey to Victoria to join her fiancé, the late W. J. Pendray, who preceded her to this city and who had in 1875 established the soap and paint business, which was then on its way to becoming the successful concern it is today. From New York, Miss Carthew voyaged overland to San Francisco, and by sailing-vessel from the California port to Esquimalt, where the vessel berthed on May 23, 1877, there being no Outer Docks here then. On the day of her arrival, Miss Carthew was married to (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

H.M.S. Exeter, British cruiser attached to the West Indies squadron of the Royal Navy, will reach Esquimalt Harbor the morning of July 27 and will remain there until August 6. It was learned this morning in a communication received at the Naval Barracks here from Sir Matthew Best, commander-in-chief of the West Indies squadron.

Commodore H. H. Harwood will have command of the Exeter, which has a complement of 600 men.

After visiting Esquimalt the Exeter will proceed to Vancouver and other mainland ports.

Says Yukon Plan Is For Mutual Benefit

Mrs. George Black, M.P., Says Yukoners Feel "Like Ethiopians"

Vancouver, May 3.—Mrs. George Black, M.P. for the Yukon territory, arrived here by train today, on her way to California before returning to Dawson, Y.T.—the last 400-odd miles from Whitehorse, Y.T., to Dawson by canoe.

Mrs. Black was met at the station by her husband, Captain George Black, former Speaker of the House of Commons, and her son, Donald Purdy of Oilfields, Calif., and his wife. Joined by Mr. and Mrs. William Black, Capt. Black's brother and sister-in-law, she will leave for the south Wednesday.

In an interview here today, Mrs. Black said she did not "see the advantage" of annexation of the Yukon by British Columbia, as proposed by Premier T. D. Pattullo in an announcement last week.

She said "the problem of transportation prevents commercial development" of such natural resources as fisheries, coal and lumber. British Columbia already has vast undeveloped mineral and timber assets.

Mrs. Black said "there has been much misinformation regarding the cost of the Yukon to the federal government."

"To date, this cost has only been $36,000,000 since 1898, and the territory has produced more than $300,000,000 in precious metals," Mrs. Black said. "Customs revenues have also been of considerable value."

Mrs. Black said the "whole move for annexation is most unpopular with Yukoners," who feel "on a par with the Ethiopians, annexed by Mussolini against their will."

LONDONERS CHEER KING

London, May 3.—The King and Queen returned to Buckingham Palace today after spending the week-end at Windsor. Arriving at noon, they were cheered by a great crowd massed outside Buckingham listening to gramophone records used in testing loud speakers placed along the Mall for next week's Coronation broadcast.

Full Effect of Tie-up Which Started Saturday Morning Seen Today as Attempt Made to Keep City's Activities at Maximum; Government Officials Holding Inquiry Into Strike

Associated Press

London, May 3.—Today London felt the full impact of the busmen's strike that has tied up the city's 5,000 busses since midnight Friday, threatening to snarl traffic arrangements for the Coronation, only nine days hence.

Early morning crowds, returning to work after the week-end, jammed the subway and surface car systems, seriously taxing those branches of the transportation network which was crippled by the walkout of 25,000 busmen demanding shorter hours.

Many Londoners wheeled out their bicycles, while others merely plodded wearily along the routes formerly served by the big red busses.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS

British Columbia's political parties moved into their final week of nominating conventions today. With official nominations due next Tuesday, May 11, there were 125 candidates listed today, with the prospect the total will go well over the 200 mark.

At the Liberal nomination convention in the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night Acting President John Wallace will preside. The meeting will open at 8 o'clock and ward delegates have been asked to take their seats early. There are six candidates for the four nominations on the party ticket.

The Conservatives, nominating tonight, also have six probable contestants. Their meeting is in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium with President R. D. Harvey in the chair.

Victoria may have three women candidates in the field, it developed today when Mrs. Madge Hall, Arbutus Road, Gordon Head, was announced as one of the B.C. Constructive Party nominees. She and Rev. Robert Connell, the party leader, are the only two named so far.

Mrs. Olive Herron Knudvig is standing for the Social Credit group, and Mrs. H. P. Hodges will stand tomorrow night for a Liberal nomination.

C. Elliott Crowe has been chosen by the Conservatives in Rossland-Trail, assuming a three-cornered fight against the Liberal and C.C.F.

The C.C.F. added seven candidates to their roster over the week-end, bringing the total to thirty. The additions are: Mrs. Grace Martin, The Islands; G. F. Stirling, Kamloops; Robert Armstrong, Lillooet; V. Segur, Rossland-Trail; John Doney, (Turn to Page 14, Col. 6)

Work on the West Coast Road Project, from Phillips Creek to Port Renfrew, was started today, the B.C. Department of Public Works announced.

Construction will be carried on from both ends of the route, one crew working from Port Renfrew south and the other from Phillips Creek north.

A crew was sent out over the weekend to do preliminary work, including surveys and the establishment of camp locations.

KING'S CIVILLIST SET AT $2,050,000

British Commons Receives Recommendation From Committee on Sums to Be Voted Royal Family

Canadian Press

London, May 3.—Financial provision of £410,000 (approximately $2,050,000) was recommended for King George VI in the report of the special civil list committee presented to the House of Commons today.

The Duke of Windsor was not mentioned in the report, but it was assumed the former King Edward VIII would be provided for privately out of the royal purse.

From out of the total provided by the civil list, the committee recommended Queen Mother Mary receive £70,000 annually as before, and that Princess Elizabeth, eleven-year-old heir presumptive, be provided £5,000 (£2,600). When the little Princess comes of age, the committee recommended her stipend be increased to £15,000. The latter sum would be subject to revision in the event a male heir is born to Their Majesties. The committee further recommended £6,000 for Princess Margaret Rose when she reaches her majority, and an increase of from £25,000 to £35,000 for the Duke of Gloucester, who has taken over additional duties during Princess Elizabeth's minority.

The civil list sets forth the sum paid the King each year for the support of himself and the royal family. (Turn to Page 14, Col. 8)

Simpson Divorce Is Made Final By British Court

WEDDING AFTER CORONATION

The Chateau de Cande, France, near Tours.—Mrs. Simpson, in seclusion, let her attorneys handle the decree and awaited the arrival of the former King Edward VIII. She will not wed him, her spokesman insisted,
until after the Coronation.

Only twenty-five seconds were required by the London court formality which finally freed Mrs. Simpson from Ernest Aldrich Simpson, her second husband, to whom she was married July 21, 1928. She obtained the divorce decree nisi at Ipswich last October 27, charging infidelity.

NO INTERVENTION

A court clerk asked presiding Judge
Sir Boyd Merriam to make absolute the seventy-eight divorce cases on the docket, including Mrs. Simpson's.
"Is there any intervention?" intended the robe justice to the silent courtroom.

After a moment's stillness, in which no dissenting voice was raised,
Sir Boyd nodded his head to the clerk.

"I pronounce the decrees absolute,"
the judge said quietly.

It was Mrs. Simpson's second divorce. An earlier marriage to Lieut.
Earl W. Spencer of the United States
Navy was dissolved in a Virginia divorce court in 1927.

FEW SPECTATORS

Only a few spectators were in the court's public gallery for the final scene. None of the principals in the case was present.

Only eight women and two men witnessed the proceedings from the gallery.

Walter Frampton, who represented
Mrs. Simpson in the original action at Ipswich, attended the court session, accompanied by a representative of her solicitors.

Frampton rose and hurried from the courtroom as soon as the decree was made final.

It was believed he immediately telephoned the news to Mrs. Simpson at Tours, France.

FAREWELL TO AUSTRIA

Associated Press

St. Wolfgang, Austria, May 3.—The Duke of Windsor bade this Austrian beauty spot goodbye today and hastened toward France, where awaits
Mrs. Wallis Simpson, whose divorce decree became final this morning.

When the express train pulled out of Salzburg at 4 o'clock in the afternoon for France, the Duke was aboard. He had motored over from St. Wolfgang. The train is due in Paris tomorrow morning.

Just before noon the telephone rang
in the remodeled pension Appenbach, where the former King Edward VIII had spent the last few weeks. The Duke was putting on his mountain climbing togs. He went to the telephone and learned Mrs. Simpson had been finally divorced from Ernest Aldrich Simpson in London.

Immediately he called the Chateau de Cande in France, and in a few minutes he was speaking to his fiancee.

At noon, the Duke announced he was leaving at once for Tours, near the chateau. There was no disguising his elation.

Edward's crisp orders galvanized the house into action. Bags were piled into the Duke's car and sent to Salzburg.

PLANS CHANGED

Edward, it was disclosed, had made earlier plans to wait until tomorrow
before going to France.

With the necessary orders given,
the Duke hurried hatless from the villa. Newspapersmen and photo-

NEWS RECEIVED CALMLY

Monts, France, May 3.—Mrs. Wallis
Simpson calmly received the news that her divorce had been made final as she strolled through the gardens of Chateau de Cande today.

Her spokesman, Herman L. Rogers, indicated she had nothing to say about the action of the British divorce court which removed the last legal barrier to her marriage to the Duke of Windsor.

Mr. Rogers, confirming reports from Vienna that the Duke had left his retreat at St. Wolfgang, Austria, indicated the former King would arrive some time tomorrow.

Mr. Rogers declined further comment, but promised a statement
"before the Duke arrives." He ruled out the chance of a wedding before late May.

WELCOMED HOME

By that time the coaling wharf
was alive with mothers and children, wives and sweethearts, larger to greet their "boys," whom they had not seen since January.

The Fraser's crew was formerly attached to H.M.C.S. Vancouver and left here in mid-January for England to take over the replacement destroyer. When they left their former ship was lying idle in Esquimalt Harbor. When they returned this morning they found the Vancouver gone. She is in Vancouver being broken up for scrap.

The Fraser left Chatham March 6 and first called at the Azores. Then she steamed for the West Indies and from there went to the Panama Canal. On her way up the Pacific Coast she called at Acapulco, Mexico, and San Diego, Calif.

Formerly the Cygnet of the Royal Navy, the Fraser was taken over some months ago by the Canadian Government from the British Admiralty. Her sister-ship, the Crescent was also purchased at the same time and is now the St. Laurent. She is based at Halifax.

Built in 1931, under the terms of the 1929 naval programme, the beam of thirty-three feet and a depth of eight and a half feet. Her displacement is 1,375 tons. She has 36,000 horsepower and does thirty-five knots. She has eighty twenty-one-inch torpedo tubes, four 4.7 guns, one three-inch AA. gun and five smaller ones.

About mid-July the Fraser will be joined at Esquimalt by the Skeena.
This morning's arrival is the fifth destroyer to be stationed at Esquimalt since the Canadian Government took over naval affairs from the British Admiralty. The first was H.M.C.S. Rainbow. She was followed by the destroyer Patricia. The Vancouver came next; then the Skeena and now the Fraser, named after another of Canada's Great rivers.

CANADA PROFITS FROM USE OF CANADIAN NICKEL IN MANCHURIA

IN THREE DECADES Manchuria has been transformed from a region of feudal lords, bandits and nomad herdsmen into a prosperous agricultural and commercial land.
Great streamlined locomotives glide into newly-built cities. Steam shovels are moving mountains. Fleets of tractors till the fields. One of the greatest bridges in all Asia spans the Yalu River.

Modern industrial methods have come to Manchuria and along with industry comes Canadian Nickel. Nickel steel for the boiler plate in those modern locomotives to give greater strength with reduced weight. Nickel steel in the bridges, steam shovels, tractors and other industrial equipment. Nickel to resist wear, breakage and corrosion. Nickel from Canadian mines.

For ever with the march of civilization and industry go International Nickel's engineers, pointing out the advantages of Nickel in the production of better materials. And behind the engineering staff, stands the great Nickel research organization, ready to develop special Nickel alloys to overcome new obstacles.
The Nickel ore in Canadian mines creates income for Canada only when mined, refined, and sold. Then—and then only—does new wealth come back to Canada to speed prosperity throughout the land.

CANADIAN NICKEL FOLLOWS WORLD INDUSTRY

THE SILVERY, SANITARY Monel SINK

This fine product of International Nickel's research department deserves a place in every home. Monel is positively rust-proof. It stoutly resists the corrosive attacks of food juices which play havoc with most materials. It does not chip or crack. And because of the natural resiliency of the metal, it lessens dish breakage and clatter. See the beautiful Monel sinks with their greater working space, their distinctive design and their silvery lustre. Ask your architect or plumber, or write for literature.

senting the scene between Pittsburg and the chorus in Act II of "The Mikado."

Mr. Dods, in his adjudication on this class, expressed the hope this event would develop further in the future. It was an excellent training ground for young singers, he said.

Most Measles Cases Are Here

The current epidemic of measles is centred pretty well in Victoria and vicinity, although there have been outbreaks at some interior points.

According to the monthly vital statistics bulletin out of 1,009 cases of measles reported in April throughout the province, Victoria had 214, Oak Bay 134, Saanich 34 and Esquimalt 19.

In the Okanagan there were quite a few cases, with 61 at Kamloops, 46 at Penticton and 44 at West Summerland.

In the Peace River block there was an outbreak of German measles with 146 cases reported.

The influenza epidemic has pretty well died down with only 393 cases reported during the month, practically all among Indians at Lillooet and Kincolith.

Ascension Day At Cathedral

Commemoration of the festival of Ascension Day, which was held last year at St. John's Church, will be held this year at Christ Church Cathedral on Thursday, May 6, with the Bishop of Columbia taking part. St. Rev. G. D. Barne, D.D., Bishop of Lahore, who is visiting Victoria this week en route from India, will be the preacher.

Bishop Barne will address other gatherings in the city and at Duncan and Quamichan, as a prelude to similar engagements across Canada.

One Divorce To Eight Weddings

A ratio of one divorce to every eight marriages in British Columbia during March is shown in vital statistics issued today.

There were 359 marriages registered and forty-five divorces, eighteen being granted to husbands and twenty-seven to wives.

Births showed an increase with 942 registered against 852 in the corresponding month of last year. Deaths numbered 661 against 642.

"It's the World's Quality Oil"

WARM DAYS AHEAD! Long and frequent trips on the open road. That means heavy work for your motor, at constant high speeds and high temperatures. For your own peace of mind, drain out that Winter oil now and put in Summer Grade Mobiloil.

It's the world's quality oil, specially developed for the fine cars of today by the world's leading group of lubricating engineers.

It's better because it's purer. The famous Clearosol Process of refining removes those impure elements which ordinary refining methods can't get rid of. And those are the very elements which break down and form carbon and sludge.

So Mobiloil means a cleaner motor, smoother running motor. And because it is a 100% lubricant, you use less oil. Hundreds of motorists report savings of as much as 25% in oil consumption with Mobiloil.

Put your car in shape for Summer driving now. Stop in at your nearest Mobiloil dealer's. Drain and refill with the world's quality oil.

An Urgent Appeal

WE IN VICTORIA HAD A VERY minor taste of flood conditions a year or so ago; but when one thinks of two thousand families in western Ontario recently rendered temporarily homeless and most of their goods and chattels ruined, it is small wonder that the Red Cross has made a nation-wide appeal for funds to help to relieve them in their distress.

This fine humanitarian organization has set for its objective $250,000, and it urges all who are able to contribute, no matter whether the sum be great or small, to do so as quickly as possible in order that a fruitful suffering may be alleviated. Contributions may be sent to any branch office of the Red Cross or to any bank. The Times bespeaks for this appeal a prompt and liberal response.

De Valera Again

QUITE SOON THE VOTERS OF the Irish Free State will be asked to decide whether they want to retain Dominion status in the British Commonwealth of Nations or whether they want to approve the "Constitution of Ireland" to convert the southern part of the Emerald Isle into a "sovereign, independent democratic state."

We are told that this "Constitution of Ireland" does not mention the King or the British Empire, but that it is proposed provision shall be made in the reference to the electorate the matter for the appointment of a "President of Ireland." The dispatch from Dublin on Saturday described this move as "another step in Ireland's long fight for political independence," that "it is proposed the constitution will apply to the whole of Ireland, which is given again its ancient title of 'Eire' (pronounced 'Erie' as in 'Lake Erie'), but provides that, pending reintegration of the national territory, and without prejudice to the right to exercise jurisdiction over all Ireland, it shall be applicable to the existing Free State area."

What Irish Free State President Eamon de Valera proposes—to "apply to the whole of Ireland"—of course, Premier Lord Craigavon, the leader of the six counties of the north, familiarly known as Ulster, may promptly use his prerogative to dispose. Doctrinaire de Valera ought to have had sufficient experience of Irish politics to realize by this time that he has very little chance of legislating for the "whole of Ireland." It is not necessary to explain the reason why.

The Spanish-American who for some time has been an executive leader of what still is a British country—as understood by its affiliation with the Empire—may or may not have correctly sensed the political outlook of the people of the Irish Free State. But when he holds his "whole Ireland" constitutional feast he will be well advised to expect that there will be an Ulster "skeleton"—a substantial one—on hand, at it, to point to the "writing on the wall."

Pregnant With Trouble

DESPITE OPPOSITION OF CANADIAN and United States fishing interests, Japan will continue fishing surveys off the British Columbia and Alaska coasts, thus justifying the warning Senator Schwelmbach of Washington State uttered in the United States Senate a few weeks ago of such a threat to the North American fishing areas.

Japanese aggressiveness in this matter is in keeping with trouble-making, high-handed action exemplified in the refusal of Japan to recognize rights of other nationals in waters adjacent to her own territories. This is emphasized by "Advice to Mariners," a warning just issued by the British Government to British merchantmen to avoid, whenever possible, entering the three-mile limit around the coasts of Japan and Formosa.

This step, The Week of London learns, is the direct consequence of a whole series of incidents, little notice of which has found its way into the daily press, in which British seamen have, apparently for no reason, been apprehended by Japanese port authorities, jailed, subjected to intense questioning, and, on occasions, even maltreated.

Good Work

FROM AN UP-ISLANDER WHO DESIRES to be known only as "Nanaimo," we have received the following: "I have just driven over the Malahat and wish to congratulate the Government on the excellent work done in widening part of this mountainous highway; also, on the substantial guard rails placed on the dangerous section of the road."

"When this highway is hard-surfaced next month it will compare favorably with the best American mountain highways and will, I am sure, be an incentive to up-islanders to visit Victoria more frequently in the future."

"Thanks, Mr. Minister of Public Works! Keep up the good work!"

And that also is just what all Victorians who have been out and seen what is happening to the old Malahat want to say.

A Revered Citizen Passes

AT THE RIPE AGE OF EIGHTY-seven years, Mrs. Amelia Jane Pendray, widow of the late W. J. Pendray, founder of the British-America Paint Company, passed away at her home on Belleville Street here today.

Mrs. Pendray was so well known in Victoria, not only for her manifold benefactions, but also for a kindly disposition and a love of the beautiful, that it is not a simple matter to pay adequate tribute to her memory here. She was a model wife and a model mother. In the autumn of her life she could sit back in her chair with the satisfaction of knowing that it had been a life well spent. But it is doubtful, however, whether such a thought entered her mind. To be gracious to all with whom she came in contact was inherent in her nature.

Sixty years in Victoria, of course, had enabled her to see many changes, to watch her sons grow up to occupy important positions in the municipal and business life of the community—to discharge the duties attaching to those positions, not only efficiently, but also in a manner, which established for them a reputation of which they have every right to be proud, of which she also must have been proud.

To all the late Mrs. Pendray's family, no matter where its members may be, The Times extends its sincere sympathy in the hour of their bereavement.

A Disturbing Week

FLOODS IN THE EAST HAVE NOT been the only evidence of storm this last week. A different kind of storm, having no known direct connection with the weather, has been raging about the whole earth since April 25, unseen, unfelt, unnoticed by most people, but making no end of trouble for telegraph and shortwave radio operators and engineers, as well as ordinary, after-dinner radio listeners.

It is a magnetic storm, consisting of fluctuations in the earth's magnetic field. Dr. A. G. McNish of the Carnegie Institution's laboratory of terrestrial magnetism, says it is the most severe magnetic storm experienced for many years.

Its most immediate and important consequences, in the affairs of the everyday world, have been severe interferences with types of communication depending on magnetic circuits in wire and radio waves in air, that is, the telegraph and radio businesses. The telegraph companies have been having "dead" periods when their instruments would not work, and the radio signals have been subjected to sudden and severe fits of fading.

Another consequence, which would have been more noticed if the skies had been clearer during the week, has been a great increase in the display of the aurora borealis. Only a cloudy sky, government observers report, prevented the aurora from being seen as far south as Washington, D.C. Such a display at this latitude is an exceedingly rare event.

There appears to be a correlation between sunspot activity and magnetic storms. At present the cycle of sunspot activity is rising to a maximum, so that more of these disturbances are to be expected during the coming few years. Magnetic storms tend to recur about every twenty-seven days, that is, once for every rotation of the sun. There was a severe one during the last two days in March. The magnetic storm may therefore be expected a few days before the end of May.

Predestination in Noses

BABIES NOSES ARE MERELY comic to most persons, but to Dr. Charles B. Davenport, formerly director of the Carnegie Institution's Department of Genetics, they already bear signs of the ultimate fate of the infant's face. He has reported his measurements of many hundreds of infantile noses, and their subsequent developments.

Noses are pretty much predestined to the shapes they will finally have, even before we are born, Dr. Davenport indicated. Like everything else about us, their fate is ruled by hereditary units, the genes.

Where the gene complex of two noses is the same, as in identical twins, the result is practical identity of the nose form. Differences in genes, by family or race, will show up in characteristic family or race noses.

In some infants the eventual shape of the nose is foreshadowed pretty plainly at birth. In others, however, there are differences in rate of growth of different parts that bring about very marked changes as the child grows up.

Notes

Science has now eliminated almost all waste of energy except argument.

A Negro in the south kills a man in order to rob his store and is lynched; Mussolini kills thousands in order to steal land and is called great.

Capt. J. Bowen-Colthurst of Sooke announced he was going big game hunting when he sailed for Terrace, B.C., a week ago. Now a dispatch announces him as a Social Credit candidate opposing Premier Pattullo in Prince Rupert. Well, he did say he was going north for big game.

Decision of the board of governors of the Dominion Drama Festival at Ottawa to hold the 1938 festival in Winnipeg will be welcomed as giving the west a break. Competing drama teams, especially from this coast, have been at a disadvantage because of the heavy traveling expenses and loss of time incurred in having to go all the way to Ottawa every year for the finals. Although Ottawa naturally does not like the proposal, it would be fairer to the whole country if the scene of the finals were shifted each year as is the custom with conventions. The finals should be held on the coast sometime. Handicapped as coast teams have been, the results at Ottawa have furnished proof that some of the outstanding drama work in the country is being done by groups in British Columbia.

Loose Ends

JOCK ARCHIBALD is on the road again—with his tent, his bagpipes and his perambulator—and many more like him—for you can't civilize these nomads of the far Highlands.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

LOCH KATRINE, SCOTLAND.

LAST MINSTREL

IN THE WINTER TIME Jock Archibald dens up in the slums of Perth, but at the first sign of spring, the cold, late spring of his native Highlands, he is on the road again. Everything he owns he pushes in a broken-down perambulator, his precious bagpipes placed carefully on top. Like Jock, the bagpipers are getting old, and there are many patches on the bag, but they still play as well as ever.

He was playing his pipes on the banks of Loch Katrine when we saw him, close to Ellen's lair, in the very heart of the Lady of the Lake country. He was one of those black Highlanders that used to be seen in the old Clan Alpine days, the kind of huge, lean, grim man that Scott put into his poetry and his novels. He was the Last Minstrel, still playing his ancient art here in the country of his fathers, and if he had worn the kilt—alas, Jock has nothing but a ragged old tweed suit with three vests and a sweater—you could have thought yourself back with Roderick Dhu and Rob Roy and Bonnie Prince Charlie.

TANGLE OF THE ISLES

HE STOOD there beside the lake, hard by Ellen's lair, and he played his pipes with eyes fixed on the mountains. We stopped the car beside him, but still he played on, as if he couldn't see us. "The Cock of the North" he played, and then "The Battle of Killiecrankie" and swung into "The Tangle of the Isles."

All the while he looked straight ahead at the mountains, a tall, proud man with a fierce, dark, fighting face, a ragged fringe of beard about it. Take away his torn cap, his filthy suit and three vests, give him a bonnet and a kilt, and you would have one of Clan Alpine's pipers who used to lead the warriors into battle in these very woods.

When he had quite finished the three tunes, and not before, Jock took the pipe from his mouth, lifted his ragged cap and put out his hand for the shilling which he had well earned. This huge, fierce man talks with the soft, plaintive voice of a woman. "God bless ye, gentleman," he said, "and send ye good fortune." Then he told us how he spent the winter in "a wee bit hoose in Paith," but went on the road again in the spring.

"Aye, I like it weel to do a wee bit roamin' about. 'Tis no healthy in the hoose. The Heelands, I like them weel. Aye, it's all right if ye've good blankets to keep ye warm, for 'tis cold at night."

SCOTTISH CAMP

JOCK, we found, had three ragged blankets and a tent made of bits of canvas and old sheets sewn together. There was just room for him to crawl into it. He was traveling with some of his friends of the road and their encampment was a weird sight—three tents like Jock's, a few pots and pans, an old woman of incredible ugliness, a baby in a tin pail and chewing tobacco vigorously, a dozen ragamuffin children scrambling about, a young woman nursing her infant by the fire.

"Tis healthy for the bairns to get out of the toon," Jock said. "There's no good air in the toon for bairns."

So Jock and his entire family roam about the roads of Scotland all summer and count the hours, pushing the perambulators and home-made carts, the women carrying their babies wrapped in plain shawls on their backs like Indian papooses.

WILD INDIANS

THEY are as wild as Indians, these Scottish tramps, with unwashed, unshaved, fierce faces—complete barbarians, descendants of the old restless Scottish breed. Nothing can civilize them or hold them in town after the first frail sun of the Highland spring. They play their pipes, or hawk pins and matches or beg, and somehow they get along.

In the heart of the mountains, in the empty desolation past the upper tip of Loch Lomond, where you may drive for an hour without seeing a house or even a sheep, we saw an old man in a tam o' shanter pushing his possessions in a perambulator. She was old, hideously wrinkled, almost blind, and she was bent almost double over the perambulator as she limped along. But no workhouse or slum will hold this old pair until they drop some day by the side of the road.

ARTFUL BEGGAR

DOWN by Aberfoyle we overtook a huge family of these nomads, and the children climbed on the running board of the car, begging for pennies. A toothless woman, with a sleeping baby on her back, thrust her head in through the window. "A penny, gentleman, for my sick bairn! We are hungry, gentleman, and the doctor will want half a crown for my sick bairn."

She and all the children seemed to be chewing tobacco. There must have been nearly a dozen of them, all clambering on the car—ragged, filthy little creatures, with faces like young animals. They looked like a mob in the French Revolution. Behind them, their grandmother, with a face of shriveled leather and a ghastly blind, staring eye, must have been one of the three witches out of "Macbeth."

"They told the same story as Jock Archibald. 'Tis no healthy in the toon,' the toothless woman said. "'Tis better for the bairns here—when they're no hungry."

She had the beggar's art developed to a fine point. The children stared at us with their wild, hungry eyes and snatched the pennies from our hands. Further along the road their father and his sullen sons waited to take the money when we had gone.

"21's" HEARTS OF GOLD

ANYONE well acquainted with New York's West Side surely knows of those fabulous and kindly-hearted brethren, the Kriender Boys, Jack and Charlie, who run "21." They know, furthermore, that Jack and Charlie will gladly hang up a "tab" for them, if they happen to be known to a good section of the clientele or the proprietors for a reasonable length of time. But I venture no one knew the Kriender boys were gentle sentimentalists under their hardened skins unless they happened to see Muriel Oxford's signed story in London's Sunday Dispatch.

Miss Oxford, the Miss England of yesteryear and the "girl in the Frank Vosper tragedy," recalls, with some nostalgia, how sadly the Kriender boys took her departure from their premises. "When I wished them goodbye at '21,'" Miss England writes, "they presented me with a leather-bound souvenir book of the club in which was inscribed the following words: 'To Muriel, one of the world's most charming ladies, a grand person, with a marvelous sense of humor, and one whom we here, at the '21' Club, are proud in knowing. We will miss you greatly.'"

QUESTIONS FROM AN ITALIAN RUNNER

To the Editor:—A few days ago you printed a letter of mine under the nom de plume "Italian Runner." Alice Colclough now wants to know of what benefit a Fascist government in Spain would be to Great Britain. That should not be hard to answer, and here are also a few more questions she may be also able to crack:

Of what benefit is it to Italy to have at the head a man with the heart and soul of an Al Capone?

Why are the Italians constantly exhorted to be fruitful and multiply? Why were they worked up to a frenzy of madness and hatred against the Ethiopians?

What did the Italian people have against the Ethiopian people?

Of what benefit is it to Italy to have a monument of skulls in Ethiopia?

Of what benefit is it to peace-loving, highly-cultured Germany to have at the head of its government a man with brain and heart of Frankenstein?

Why did Franco in his bombastic oratory say "Spain for the Spanish" then when he was defeated at the polls, bring in thousands of foreign troops to slaughter and spill the blood of Spanish men, women and helpless children in the streets of Spain?

Of what benefit is this to Spain or the Spanish?

ST. GEORGE AND BRUCE

To the Editor:—As I suspected, it has come to pass. The first faint reverberating roar has gone up to St. George to slay that dragon, Bruce Hutchison, for his strictures on English pulchritude, puddings and plumbings.

If one analyzes the intellectual reactions underlying your journalist's little jests it is obvious that he has been greatly impressed with that strange compound of medievalism and modernity which is England. There is no surprise, then, that it has happened to greater and lesser men who have preceded him.

Our Bruce probably realized—albeit with his tongue in his cheek—that an Empire breed of men and women, which has withstood the shock of an abdication in the midst of a series of international crises, can take his satirical pin-pricks without an anesthetic.

PIONEER GOLD MINING MUST NOT BE OVERLOOKED

To the Editor:—Not having seen anything in the papers or the programme on Victoria's seventy-fifth anniversary about placer gold mining, may I suggest that this industry have a place on the programme?

Victoria was a city of tents in 1860. There was a big gold rush from California then to the coast. Victoria, having a stopping place before the gold rushers crossed the Gulf to New Westminster. The route was past Miners Bay, and through Active Pass, the same route the boats now take to Vancouver.

I am a gold miner, and my first trip to Leech River was in 1884. I have done considerable mining and prospecting in that formation, and would be willing to come into town and give a demonstration on that industry, with the paraphernalia that is thence miner's outfit.

I could also bring my vocabulary.

CHILDREN FOR PROFIT

To the Editor:—With the defeat of the child labor law in the New York Assembly by a vote of 102 against 42, we witness another victory for the cause of reactionary forces in control of American industry. This huge majority in favor of continued exploitation and degradation of American children was built up of forty-one Democrats and sixty-one Republicans.

So it may be seen that where the basis of industrial profit is in danger of a measure of disturbance, the reactionary forces in control of American industry, this huge majority in favor of continued exploitation and degradation of American children was built up of forty-one Democrats and sixty-one Republicans. So it may be seen that where the basis of industrial profit is in danger of a measure of disturbance, the reactionary forces in control of American industry, this huge majority in favor of continued exploitation and degradation of American children was built up of forty-one Democrats and sixty-one Republicans.

IMPRIMATUR.

To the Editor:—Like Rip Van Winkle, the spoken drama is raising its head and renewing its normal activities. There have been people who felt convinced that the so-called legitimate stage was buried beneath a pile of motion picture film. Recent activities in England, the United States and Canada prove, however, that the living drama did sleep. When fully awake it will assume its rightful place in the sun of public favor.

Many communities, degrees smaller than Victoria, are building or adapting theatres for Civic Theatre requirements. With an alert mayor, supported by an active aldermanic council, Victoria now has a vitally enthusiastic Civic Theatre Movement under way. But while hearty public support is necessary if the project is to be successful, every public-spirited citizen must put his or her shoulder to the wheel.

An active legitimate theatre is a benefit to any community. It attracts business downtown and aids storekeepers, restaurants, etc. It has been proven also that interest in a Civic Theatre also means interest in motion pictures. Thus everyone gains and no one loses. I have been asked to direct the initial production and thus start the ball rolling. We plan to have a thoroughly entertaining play ready for two performances on Wednesday, June 2, a play which will send the theatre patrons home fully convinced that they had their money's worth, and fully determined to go back for more at the earliest opportunity.

BRITISHERS COULD NOT TOLERATE FASCISM

To the Editor:—In a speech which favorably compared with one of General Franco, Hitler and Mussolini, Col. Edgett, speaking recently before the Rotary Club, called upon his listeners to "tear away the mask of camouflage" from Communism and to support Fascism as a "lesser evil," and particularly taking pains to "boost" the local clique calling themselves "Young Citizens' League." When this comes from the mouth of one who has filled the extremely important position of Chief of Police of Vancouver, it calls for serious thought on the part of all Britishers, and the Canadian people as a whole. Nobody who cherishes the freedom we Britishers are accustomed to calling "British Justice and Democracy," could tolerate brutal Fascism in Canada, and I doubt very much if Col. Edgett would receive much support from the Rotarians, who, as Canadian citizens and "well-meaning persons," would be shocked if they realized what cause it was they pledged themselves to serve, and how by their actions they were defeating the cause, to put it in the words of Col. Edgett.

The Young Citizens' League will surely need the colonel's support for they will never get the support of the mass of the Canadian people. Any militarist knows that camouflage is an important part of military strategy.

It is, therefore, no surprise that Fascist dictators have a common dislike with Col. Edgett for organizations working for peace and international brotherhood, for the common weal.

RELIGIOUS MYTHS ALL FOLLOW SAME PATTERN

To the Editor:—H. G. Wells in "God the Invisible King" says: "A large majority of those who possess and believe in the Christian creeds, have come into the practice so insensibly from unthinking childhood, that only in the slightest way do they realize the nature of the statements to which they subscribe."

A statement in a letter was recently published to the effect "that Christianity had something which is not to be found in any other religion, to wit—Jesus Christ."

Now, pagan history gets little publicity in the daily press. Comparatively few Christians realize that nearly all the pagan—virgin-born gods are reported to have suffered, died and risen again in glory. Christna, the Hindoo saviour, was crucified, and rose again from the dead. So also was Buddha as the God of Love under the name of Cama. Zoroaster, Aesculapius (whose resurrection is recorded by Ovid), Adonis, Mithras, Osiris, Bacchus, Hercules and many others. These pagan gods have very much the same history attached to them as Jesus has. The resemblance between the pagan, virgin-born, crucified and resurrected saviours and Jesus Christ is so striking as to be almost intuitive.

The Easter festival is an almost exact imitation of the celebrations of Adonis and Mithras. In the early days of the Christian church the resurrection of Christ was not kept as a festival at all. The Jewish Passover was their chief festival, and they kept it on the same day as the Jews—believing that on the eve of his death Jesus had eaten the Passover with his disciples. But in proportion as the Christians became more pagan and less Jewish, so the traditions changed, and it was then believed that Jesus had not eaten the Passover on the eve of his death, but had died on the very day of Passover and the great Christian festival was then held the first holiday after Passover—viz. Sunday. From the foregoing remarks it is not obvious that the Easter celebrations are of a purely pagan character.

ALWAYS OPPORTUNITIES

Phelan's Financial Press
Some people are beginning to talk of the "romance of the market." They are pointing to the sensational bargains that were available in 1932 and 1933. Smelters, it is pointed out, sold at 25 in 1932 and recently crossed 500. However, it should be remembered that Chrysler in New York sold as low as 5 in the depression and last year distributed more than $14 in dividends. In this country, Canadian Foreign Investments sold as low as 2 in 1932, and is presently paying $1.60 a share in annual dividends. If this country is to continue to prosper, as all signs would appear to indicate, opportunities in the market will continue to abound, but it requires considerable foresight, not hindsight, to profit from the country's development.

C.C.F. PRESS CENSORSHIP

To the Editor:—Mr. Derek Pethick of Elk Lake, who speaks for the committee for political education, Young Citizens' League (Victoria Central Division) should know that the editor of The Federationist reserves "the right to edit any letter containing passages inimical to the cause" (the actual words used) on account of a recent discussion in its columns during which some earnest C.C.F.ers applied epithets to one another that would perhaps have been more applicable to the members of the Young Citizens League.

This episode at least suggests that the C.C.F. is not a mere mutual admiration society. Can the Young Citizens League say as much for itself?

Since this rule was instituted a number of letters criticizing C.C.F. policies have been published by The Federationist so it can hardly be said that legitimate criticism has been stifled.

Mr. Pethick must surely be aware that many editors exercise a similar right and some even refuse to publish letters altogether when they dislike the opinions expressed in them. Such "repressive tactics" enforced by editors, or far more frequently by newspaper proprietors, are already common. The Victoria Times appears to be an honorable exception.

I most earnestly urge you, sir, to refrain from editing this letter. Consider the disastrous effect on your circulation if the Victoria Central Division of the Committee for Political Education of the Young Citizens League, to say nothing of Divisions N.C., E.C., S.C., W.C., E. S. W., N.E., E.N.E.—you can box the compass if you like—were, in defence of the right of freedom of discussion in the press, to proclaim a boycott against you!

No doubt, when the Young Citizens League issues a paper of its own, entitled, let us suppose, The Weekly Fiapdoodle—all letters sent to it for publication will be inserted unedited—even those signed by MISSOURIAN.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

May 3, 1912

(From The Times Files)

After sundry delays the Oak Bay fire hall which the city is to build under arrangement with the municipal council, is advancing, the fire wardens having made an inspection this week the result of which is that the plans are being prepared for the hall.

The electric light service of the B.C. Electric Company is to be extended to give facilities to the residents in Cadboro Bay, which is rapidly demanding the accommodation of urban life.

The repair work at Smith's Hill reservoir was again threatened with delay through the breaking of a pump yesterday, and it will be necessary to get some fittings in Vancouver before the pump can again be put in commission.

With fitting impressiveness the Spring Horse Show, an established institution the world over wherever horsemen are found, was introduced in Victoria yesterday and there is reason to believe that the event will become permanent here. The quality of horsemanship exhibited last night was splendid and in all but two or three classes competition was very keen.

Stephen Jones, proprietor of the Dominion Hotel, left today for Northern Pacific to attend the Mystic Shrine at Los Angeles.

TIMP WINNER OF ROSE BOWL

Baritone Awarded Highest Vocal Honor in Musical Festival

The highest vocal honor of the Victoria Musical Festival, the Rose Bowl presented by the B.C. Electric Railway Company for annual competition between winners of the senior classes of the present and preceding festivals, was on Saturday afternoon awarded to Pierre Timp.

There were nine competitors. "A very delightful quality of voice" was the comment of George Dodds, adjudicator of the festival's vocal classes, on the winner's performance. The words were safe and excellently controlled, he said. The tone had a slight tendency to broaden too far. The contrasts were good, and the march to the climax was fine artistry.

Mr. Timp sang Eric Thiman's "Where Go the Boats?" and Schubert's "Longing."

The vocal championship was decided in First United Church. Other contests heard during the afternoon in that hall were for junior orchestra, children's rhythmic orchestra, carol singing by groups of twelve or fewer voices, small vocal ensembles and ladies' trios.

CHANCE CRITICIZED
The new system of adjudication introduced this year in school choir classes came in for criticism once again during the afternoon, this time from Arthur Benjamin in his comment on the rhythmic band class. Under the new plan the standing and marks of the school teams are not announced.

"I strongly deprecate this business of keeping things under cover," said Mr. Benjamin. The audience applauded loudly. There was much to be learned in losing, the adjudicator added, and the British nation had a reputation for losing well.

Education classes were heard in First Baptist Church during the afternoon, and the final folk dancing contests were staged at Victoria High School.

BIG GAINS IN COLLECTIONS

Increased collection of tax arrears, standing $10,039.49 above those for the first four months of last year, gave the city highly favorable balance in the collection of taxes up to the end of April, according to figures announced by George Okell, city assessor-collector, today.

The figures also revealed almost one-third of this year's levy has already been paid in, although the due date on taxes does not fall until the beginning of October.

In the prepaid lists $487,290.22 has been paid in this year, compared with $499,635.92 for the same period last year. On those figures 1936 showed an amount $6,354.70 more than this year.

However the arrears gains for 1937 were sufficient to offset the deficiency, the figures for the current year being $75,299.98, as against $65,260.49 last year.

Applausibly showed a material increase over the same month in 1936 in the prepaid lists. Last month $67,989.30 was collected through these channels, against $35,637.41 in April, 1936. The increase of $32,351.89 was insufficient to overcome the deficiency showing at the end of March.

Sidney, May 3.—An alarm of fire was turned in Saturday morning as a result of smoke issuing from the printing room of The Gulf Island Review. Immediate response was made by the local fire team, and prevented what might have been an explosion and consequent serious blaze. An electric motor had shorted and become overheated by reason of insulation being destroyed. Beyond necessity of rewinding the motor all other damage was avoided.

GARDEN RADIO VETERAN HERE

Cecil Solly Has Been on Air Longer Than Amos and Andy

A veteran of radio, a man who has been on the air longer than Amos and Andy, was in Victoria Saturday. Cecil Solly of Seattle, whose voice is known to hundreds of thousands of garden enthusiasts, will reach his twenty-seven hundredth fifteen-minute broadcast some time this month.

Last week his mail amounted to 3,000 letters and he is apologizing to his listeners for delay in replying.

"For weeks I've been telling my audience about the old English gardens I expected to see in Victoria. And I was delighted when we got off the boat to find beds of tulips and forget-me-nots which are so typical of the old world," he said.

Mr. Solly went on a lightning tour of the Victoria gardens Saturday, after which he commented on them over radio station CFRT.

The Seattle garden authority was born in England, graduated from Cambridge in agriculture, and was production manager for Carter's Seed Company in England for some time. He has built golf courses both in the Old Country and in the eastern states. During the war he won four blue stripes and four gold stripes with the Royal West Kent Regiment.

On the special garden tour with Mr.

Solly were a number of writers and experts, including Mrs. Ethel Romig Fuller, freelance writer; Miss Gwladys Bowen, Portland Oregonian, and Miss Julie Hobday, Portland Journal, who arrived Saturday.

Mrs. Oakleigh Thorne, Santa Barbara, national vice-president of the Garden Clubs of America, led a party of nineteen gardeners from California here today. Mrs. Thorne said that Victoria was the end of a pilgrimage through the Northwest gardens for them.

World Travelers To Reside Here

Attracted to Victoria's fine climate, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Emerson, late of Ceylon, after many years of world travel, will live at View Royal where they have purchased a residence.

Mr. Emerson paid his first visit to Victoria in 1888 and made frequent trips through British Columbia and Washington territory, which part of the country he spent ten years in.

He then went to Ceylon, joining the civil service.

In 1927 Mr. Emerson accepted an appointment as irrigation advisor to the government of Tanganyika. In recent years Mr. and Mrs. Emerson have resided in Tanganyika, Portuguese East Africa, Natal and Los Angeles.

Koreans Are Described In Talks

Mrs. Induk Pak, M.A. Delights Gatherings Here

Describing Koreans as the "least mixed people of the world, nationally idealistic and peace-loving," Mrs. Induk Pak, M.A., president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Korea, spoke on "Korean Women of Today and Yesterday" before a large audience of women Saturday evening in the Empress Hotel. The meeting was sponsored by the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss Minnie Lawson, the president, presided and introduced the speaker.

This desire for peace, that the Koreans had become "ultra-pacifist," she explained. She showed how the position of women was slowly changing, modern developments having detracted from the three major occupations for women—home-making, weaving and the sing-song girls or artists. Madame Pak spoke of the influence of the Christian missionaries in her country, the message of Christ bringing with it a new philosophy, that of "looking forward." Education was making considerable advances, there being now one college for women.

An active Y.W.C.A. movement had been started, the W.C.T.U. was making itself felt and the Women's Missionary Society was leading in thought and activity. The speaker described how the women of Korea were finding difficulty in winning the confidence of their men folk, for age-long tradition had been against any branching out into new fields. The Business and Professional Women's Club in Seoul, Madame Pak's home, had been directly responsible for work among the rural women. She told of the difficulty of making a livelihood in the country, of the exorbitant rates charged by the money-lenders and of the lack of education among women.

Mr. and Mrs. John Day of "Miraflores," Cook Stuart, have returned to their home in Victoria after a world cruise. They were passengers aboard the S.S. Empress of Britain and left her last week at San Francisco.

Mrs. C. Higham of Montreal, who has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pemberton, and in Vancouver with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Forteous, left Vancouver on Saturday night for the east and will visit in Toronto for a time before returning to Montreal.

Dr. Olga Jardine, Despard Avenue, and her aunt, Miss H. Robinson, of Wellington, New Zealand, who have been visiting in California, returned to Victoria on Saturday. Miss Robinson will sail for her home in the Antipodes on the R.M.S. Aorangi towards the middle of this month.

The Empress Hotel ballroom was filled for the supper dance Saturday night when 300 persons enjoyed the music of Mr. William Tickle and his hotel orchestra. The featured numbers were "My Little Buckaroo," "Never in a Million Years" and "Thanks for Everything." At the tea hour yesterday, about 200 persons gathered at the hotel for tea. Approximately 100 of the Garden Club members stayed in Victoria over the week end, guests of the Empress Hotel.

Members of the Chiselers' bridge club spent an enjoyable evening recently at the home of Miss Betty Lansell, Graham Street. Dainty refreshments were served and prizes were won by Miss Ruth Bennett and Mrs. Robert Stewart. Members present were: Misses Emma Mutch, Edna Wallace, Betty Lansell, Ruth Bennett, Olive Kilby, Mary Gootenko, Nellie Merton, Mrs. Roy Thexton, Mrs. Ken Poskitt and Mrs. Robert Stewart. The guests of the evening were Miss Lily Bennett and Mrs. Arthur Armstrong. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Stewart, Anderson Avenue.

On Saturday evening a delightful party was held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Cox, 156 Eberts Street, in honor of her daughter, Doreen. The rooms were decorated with assorted spring flowers and ferns. Dancing and games were enjoyed throughout the evening by the following guests: The Misses Eileen Brinn, Mae Corness, Dorothy Fuller, Joan Glendinning, Margaret Harknett, Violet Harrison, Barbara Lane, Elaine Munro, and the Messrs. Ralph Clarke, Maurice Foxgaurd, George Harknett, Jimmy Harrison, Reggie Lane, George Pears, Fred Smith, Abby Painter and Jake Warwick.

Miss Jessie Ruddock, who is leaving shortly for England to be married, was the guest of honor at a shower given recently by Miss Doris Kipp and Miss Edna Teagle. The numerous gifts were presented in a very novel manner. On a table an inverted umbrella made of yellow cellophane was placed over the various parcels wrapped in yellow and white cellophane. Four small cellophane umbrellas were suspended from the larger one and to the handle of this was attached a bouquet of mauve aubretia and daffodils. Court whist was played, Miss J. Ruddock winning first prize. Later, supper was served from a lace-covered table centred with a two-tiered wedding cake decorated with mauve and pink roses. Small vases of flowers in the prevailing hues completed an artistic motif. The guests were Mrs. D. Robinson and Misses E. Cox, Dorothy Reace, Lucy Merton, Doris Hooper, Winnie Allen, Dora Lewis and Patsy Fatt.

Recent Weddings

GARDNER-THORNEY

The marriage of one of the most popular brides of the season in this district was celebrated Friday evening when Rev. Thos. Keyworth solemnized the union of Winnifred, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Thorney, Queen's Avenue, Sidney, and Mr. William Wellington Gardner, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gardner of Marine Drive, Sidney. The wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh J. McIntyre, Third Street, and was witnessed by a large number of the intimate friends of the young couple. The ceremony was performed in front of a background of laurestinus, interspersed with spring flowers. The wedding music was played by Miss Kathleen Lowe, L.B.S.M., and Miss Freda Spencer sang "I Love You," while the register was being signed.

A dainty buffet supper was served after which the happy couple left for mainland points on a brief honeymoon after which they will reside on Marine Drive, Sidney. Miss Thorney was a member of the staff of Saanich Peninsula and Gulf Islands Review for the last eight years.

WILLIAMS-BUTTS

Spring flowers were used in St. Mark's Church on Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Phyllis Agnes Mary, fifth daughter of Mrs. Butts, 676 Brett Avenue, Saanich, and the late Mr. J. H. Butts, and Mr. John S. Williams, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Williams, 1213 Heywood Avenue. Rev. O. L. Jull officiated at the service and Mrs. F. W. L. Moore presided at the organ.

Mr. Williams Butts gave his sister in marriage. She wore a gown of ivory satin, with a short train and long sleeves, full at the shoulders, a filmy veil of embroidered net confined beneath a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of roses and carnations.

Miss Nona Butts was her sister's only attendant, in a short-sleeved frock of pink lace, worn with a halo of matching velvet, and she carried a bouquet of carnations and sweet peas in two shades of pink. Mr. George Williams supported his brother and the ushers were Mr. William Nicholls and Mr. Ralph Birwhistle.

A small reception was held after the ceremony, at the home of the bride's mother. The tea table was centred with the three-tiered cake and arranged with vases of tulips and tall pink tapers. Mr. and Mrs. Williams left by the afternoon boat for Seattle, the bride traveling in a grey tailored suit with navy blue accessories, and after their honeymoon will return to Victoria and make their home at 825 Vine Street.

Among the numerous gifts were a pair of Hudson's Bay Point blankets, from the firm of the Hudson's Bay Company, and a Royal Albert tea service from the former fellow employees of the bride on the staff.

BROWN-GWILT

The New Mission Hall, Falmouth Road, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday night when Alice Mabel, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gwilt, 3789 Quadra Street, became the bride of Mr. Jack Brown, only son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown, Colwood. Rev. W. J. S. Waugh officiating. During the service the bride stood beneath a floral arch in white and yellow.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess gown of ivory satin, with a full train, and buttoned from throat to hem with self buttons, and long sleeves, full at the shoulders and tapering to the wrists. Her hip-length veil of beautiful old lace was confined beneath a halo of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and sweet peas.

Miss Helen Gwilt, sister of the bride, in yellow mousseline-de-soie and Miss Ina Brown, the groom's sister, in azure blue organza, were the bridesmaids, their gowns fashioned alike in Empire style with short puffed sleeves, and sashes which tied in long ends. Their coronets of flowers, placed over circular veils, introduced the Coronation motif, and they carried bouquets of lilies and carnations to tone with their frocks.

Mr. Alfred Pratt, Colwood, was best man, and acting as ushers were Messrs. Franklin and Lorne Gwilt, brothers of the bride. Miss Kathleen Brown played the wedding music and accompanied Mr. P. Edmonds, who sang "All Joy Be Thine."

RECEPTION AT LANGFORD

A reception was held later at "Lafalot," Langford Lake, the future home of the bride and groom, at which about eighty guests were welcomed by Mrs. Gwilt in a navy blue tulle frock of crepe de chine, a matching hat and white accessories, and Mrs. Brown in a navy blue chiffon ensemble and hat en suite, and both wearing corsage bouquets of carnations and tulips.

The bridal couple stood beneath a floral arch to receive the felicitations. Supper was served from a table centred with the wedding cake and illuminated with yellow candles. Major E. J. Read proposed the toast to the bride and groom.

After a wedding trip up the island, where the bride formerly resided, Mr. and Mrs. Brown will take up residence at Langford Lake. For traveling the bride chose a mauve hand-knitted suit and accessories to tone.

Novel Idea For Old Bottles

Salt Lake Women Start a Glass Mountain

Associated Press

Salt Lake City, May 3.—A mountain of glass—a final resting place for old bottles—was started by clubwomen today.

Twenty acres of land set aside by municipal authorities as "mountain territory," were dedicated yesterday as the spot upon which a glittering crystal tower is to rise.

Members of the Wasatch Literary Club, sponsors of the project, shattered the first bottles.

Said Mrs. Hal Powers, chairman of the club's civic improvement committee: "It would be a good thing if all cities started building glass mountains."

"There's so much broken glass around these days, and it's such a menace."

"Glass fragments, piled upon each other, catch the sun so beautifully and shine and glow wonderfully under lights at night. I consider 'glass mountains' an ideal solution to the old bottle problem."

SHIRLEY'S BIG PAY

Garden Party At Sidney Success

A silver tea and garden party was held at the home of Capt. and Mrs. Livesey, Manor Farm, Sidney, on Saturday, in aid of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. Andrew and Holy Trinity Churches.

Tea was served by the girls under the convenship of Mrs. Philip Brethour. The tables and rooms were prettily decorated with tulips, narcissi and daffodils. Games and contests were under charge of Miss Betty Lambert and Miss Enid Sisson. Chinese fortune-telling proved very popular under charge of Minnie the Mystic. The home-cooking and handicraft stalls were competently managed by Miss Majorie Horth and Miss Agnes McKechnie. The guessing contest on the cake contributed by Mrs. K. King and decorated by Owen Thomas was won by Mrs. E. Livesey and Mrs. Urquhart; other contests were won by Mr. Hurst and Miss Dorothy Adams.

Mrs. J. Lyle of Deep Cove entertained the guests during tea with delightful piano solos. The afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed, the weather man turning out an ideal day for the affair, and it was voted a complete success. A reasonable amount was realized for the funds.

Varsity Crowned Canadian Cage Champs

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

EXPERTS agree that the New York Yankees will win the American League baseball pennant again this season. If they don't fall prey to overconfidence and dissension, Rupert's Rifles, according to the boys, need fear no foe but their own dear little selves.

However, there are dark hints, heard around and about, that there is some internal dissension on the club—especially in the Little Italy sector. It seems, according to somewhat widespread and considerably reliable word, that Joe DiMaggio no speak English, or anything else for that matter, to Antonio Lazzari and Frank Crosetti, his fellow teammates, fellow San Franciscoans, and fellow countrymen.

It's not exactly a feud, this coldness between the three great Italians, but there's no doubt that the lads have a good hate on.

Some of the experts, as we said before, have an idea that this little bit of unhappiness in the once happy family is going to work against the Yankees' chances of repeating. They are a-fearful that the Yankees may leave their fight in the dressing-room.

However, the history of family squabbles and mutinies in baseball doesn't support this fear. Some of the very best teams have had a couple of boys wrangling down the home stretch.

How about, for instance, Joe Tinker and Johnny Evers? You'd never suspect, to watch the precision of their performance, that the famed Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance double play combination was marred by hate for one another. Tinker and Evers were, perhaps, the greatest second base pair of all time. They didn't speak to one another for a couple of campaigns.

Bringing it more up to date, at least one pennant winner in each of the last four or five years has seen its dugout or clubhouse enlivened by a nice, old-fashioned, fist-pulling on the part of two or more players.

Ben Chapman and Babe Ruth sneered and snarled at each other throughout the Yankees' 1932 pennant-winning drive; Goose Goslin and Joe Cronin almost came to blows twice during the Washington's 1933 championship battle; the Deans—Dixie and Duffy—battled with the entire St. Louis Cardinal team before during, and after each game of the Gas House Gang's pennant dash in 1934, and Rookie Catcher Walter Stephenson and Shortstop Gilly Jurgens swapped punches on the bench in the heat of the Chicago Cubs' successful flag fight in 1935.

These are just a few—recalled off-hand—of the interclub feuds that have smoldered and flared up on championship clubs. There have been countless more, disproving the belief that a bit of clubhouse squabble wrecks a club.

It would be best, of course, to have all milk and honey. It would be best if DiMaggio and Lazzari and Crosetti had a good cry on one another's shoulders and forgave and forgot.

But it's just about impossible to get twenty-three men together, make them sleep together, dress together, travel together and work together without having a disagreement here and there.

CAPS SECURE FOOTBALL CUP

Wimpy's Eleven Defeats Hill's Corner 6 to 0 to Capture Colonist Trophy

Wimpy's Capitals won The Colonist Cup when they defeated Hill's Corner, Vancouver Island juvenile champions, 6 to 0, in the final played Saturday morning at the Athletic Park.

Dunaway tallied the Capitals' only marker of the initial stanza. Not long after the resumption of play, Sage tallied to bring the eventual winners' lead, and Norm Brown made it 3 to 0. Coster, Munroe and Sage each scored before the final whistle to account for the Capitals' total.

Edgar Borden refereed.

W. J. "Bill" Fynn, president of the Lower Island Juvenile Football Association, presented the trophy to W. Stewart, captain of the winning eleven.

Nanaimo Galahad defeated Esquimalt Meats Market, 3 to 1, in an exhibition match at Bullen Park. Prior to the start of the fixture, Russ Inkster, manager of the Nanaimo club, presented Alderman James Adam with a carved wood lamp, made from Bastion Fort (1858) at Nanaimo. It was a token of esteem from Alderman Adam's many friends at Nanaimo.

Another exhibition game saw Moose Lodge, Nanaimo, and Oak Bay Ramblers battle to a 2 to 2 draw at Oak Bay Park.

Defeat Windsor By Three Points In Rugged Clash

B.C. Titleholders Take Fourth Game 23 to 20; Two Players Leave Floor

Aitchison Is High Scorer

Vancouver, May 3.—The blue and gold Thunderbirds of the University of British Columbia moved a few trophies aside and dusted off a place in their glass case today to make room for the Montreal Sportsmen's Cup, solid silver mug, symbolic of Canadian men's senior basketball supremacy.

Thunderbirds defeated the 1936 champions—Windsor Pors—23 to 20 in the fourth game of the best-of-five series here Saturday night. The Windsor players left for home last night.

Varsity won the first two games by scores of 31 to 20 and 31 to 30, and Windsor took the third game 28 to 23.

It was the second time in five years that a University of British Columbia team had won final honors. Another Varsity squad held the cup in 1932.

After the four struggles only a single point separated the teams in total points scored. The Collegians scored 108 while Windsor counted 107.

LOSE THREE STARS

A continual fight—from the opening gong to the final bell—for the possession of the ball, caused Pors to lose three of their first struggles on personal. "Red" Nantais, Jimmy Stewart and "Scrubby" Aitchison went to the bench for Windsor and Varsity's Ram Mathison met the same fate.

Windsor's shooting was much superior to Varsity's and if the easterners had been able to break through the collegians' guard as often as the students got through for close shots, there would be another game.

Aitchison led the scorers of both teams with eight points, but Art Willoughby of Varsity followed close behind with seven, although he missed seven of ten free shots.

The collegians took a 4 to 0 lead after two minutes of play, but Aitchison cut the lead in half with a field basket.

After Willoughby sank a free toss, Aitchison came back with a field basket and a free toss to even the score at 5 to 5. Willoughby put his team in front at 7 to 5, but Nantais evened the count again at 7 to 7 with a field goal.

Jimmy Bardley sank a free toss, but "Toots" Meretsky and Aitchison hooped two successive field baskets to give Windsor the lead for the first time at 11 to 8. Bill Swan and Eddie Armstrong, who just came on the floor, changed the lead in the British Columbian's favor for a half-time score of 12 to 11.

SECOND HALF

After the turnover, Willoughby netted a free toss but Aitchison and Meretsky gave Pors the lead again with a pair of field goals to make the count 15 to 13. Swan evened it at 15 to 15, and Norm Dawson put Windsor in front for the last time at 17 to 15.

Free shots by George Pringle and Armstrong and a basket by Willoughby gave the collegians a 19 to 17 lead. Phil Field counted for the easterners to tie the score at 19 to 19, then the teams alternated on free shots to make it 20 to 20.

The last five minutes of the game went scoreless after Ralph Henderson and Willoughby scored in their pitching heat, and a free shot to give the collegians their final lead near the fifteen-minute mark.

Soccer League Holds Wind-up

The Sunday School Football League wound up its season's activities Friday evening with a closing get-together at the Metropolitan Hall, with President Charles Clarke, presiding. Between fifty and sixty players were present.

Referees, league officials and all others responsible for the success of the season just terminated, were accorded a hearty vote of thanks by Professor R. T. Wallace, chairman of the Boys' Work Board. He introduced Jack Hartley of the New Method Laundries Ltd., who presented the New Method Laundries Ltd. Cup to the team of the St. Aidan's.

Other speakers were Rev. E. F. Church, Rev. Griffiths and P. J. Woodley, referee.

Those taking part in the programme were: Steve Lookman, Reg. Steyer, Jack Church, Don Robinson and H. Hedley. The accompanist was Miss Swain. Charles Clarke and C. F. Hunt were in charge of the programme.

Cy Young Will Donate Trophies

Dover, O., May 3.—Denton Tecumseh Young—known to baseball fans as "Cy" because of the cyclonic destruction he left in the ranks of opposing teams—careless his loving cup today and announced he was going to give them to baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

There was a trace of mistiness in the eyes of the seventy-year-old Chicagoan who in twenty-two years of major league baseball campaigning won 511 of the 873 games he pitched. The ornate loving cups he received in recognition of his pitching feats are worth perhaps $700, and Cy Young is none too well off. But he decided the Hall of Fame—to which baseball writers recently named him, along with seven other stars of the game—was the proper place for them.

Philadelphia, May 3.—A whirlwind finish in the final hour carried the Montreal team of Henri LePage and Jules Audy to Victory Saturday night in Philadelphia's six-day bicycle race.

Race promoters said the Montrealers, who covered 2,498 miles since the race started at midnight last Sunday, set a new record for a twelve-lap-to-the-mile track. The former record was established here in 1932 by Severigni and Grimm, who covered 3,368 miles, nine laps on a ten-lap track.

Keist-Ford In Return Battle

Tim Keist, Victoria welterweight, and Al Ford, Vancouver negro, will meet in a return ten-round bout at the Empire Theatre on May 13. It was announced today by promoter Bert Bailey. In a recent bout Keist won from Ford on a foul.

Promoter Bailey states he will arrange a strong supporting card and will make an effort to have Bobby Carrington, former prairie scrapper now living in Vancouver, appear in one of the preliminary bouts.

MEAT MARKET DEFEATS SONS

Score 4 to 3 Win and Advance to Final in Saanich Football League

Victoria Meat Market earned the right to meet James Island in the final for second-half honors in the Saanich and District Football League yesterday afternoon when they scored a 4 to 3 victory over Saanich Native Sons in a play-off fixture at Hampton Road Park.

The final fixture between the Market and Islanders is billed for next Sunday at Hampton Road Park. James Island has possession of the first-half championship and should they win this tussle will annex the championship. If the butchers win, however, the teams will contest in a best-of-three series for the laurels.

SONS AGGRESSORS

The Sons had the best of yesterday's game by quite a margin, but lack of finish to their offensive proved to be their downfall. The Meat Market secured their tallies during scrimmages in front of the Sons' goal.

Doug Gent, shifty pivot man for the Meat Market, rang up a pair of markers in quick succession to give his team a handsome lead, and Neil McCall registered to make the score read 3 to 0. Before the interval Albert Henry tallied for the Sons, the score being 3 to 1 at the half-way point.

Saanich Native Sons climbed up to within a notch of their opponents not long after second-half play had opened. Eddie Sheppard tallied. Receiving the leather from a flag kick, Neil McCall scored Victoria Meats' first minute from the final Albert Market's fourth and final goal and Henry hoisted the ball between the posts for the Sons to finish the scoring of the game.

ISLANDERS WIN

In a postponed league fixture played at Bullen Park, James Island ran roughshod over the Busy Bee Cafe to win 6 to 1.

When the Pirates Saw Red

Pittsburgh And Detroit On Top

Home runs get the cheers, but there's nothing like a good scrap to bring a baseball crowd to its feet. When Pirate Catcher Al Todd and Cincinnati Pitcher Lee Grissom tangled in the National League opener at Pittsburgh as shown in upper picture, it was the signal for all hands to come running. The scene below shows both teams gathered around the separated pair. Both scrappers were banished and the game went on, Pittsburgh winning 4 to 3.

Finals have been reached in the annual men's championship at the Macaulay Point Golf Club, with Ian Wallace in the last bracket and Norman Wallace, defending champion, to meet W. Allen for the second place in the deciding round. Should Norman win it will be a battle of brothers for the crown.

In the first round, Ian Wallace defeated J. R. Stone, 6 and 5, while Norman eliminated F. Brown by the same score. W. Allen turned back H. Thompson, 3 and 1. The second round saw I. Wallace beat R. A. Simpson, 5 and 4, and N. Wallace beat J. P. Morgan, 5 and 4, and W. Allen accounted for J. Simpson, 2 and 1.

City And Thistles Win Cup Football

Defeat Victoria West and Esquimalt, Respectively, in McGavin Cup Matches; Wests, Playing With Ten Men, Stage Great Come-back

Scoring odd-goal victories Victoria City and Saanich Thistles reached the final of the McGavin Cup series for first division football teams at the Athletic Park on Saturday afternoon. The City turned back the Victoria West, 4 to 3, and the Thistles eliminated Esquimalt, 2 to 1, after a third replay. The Wests were forced to play through their entire match with only ten men.

For the final fifteen minutes of the last session the Victoria West hotly attacked the City goal area, endeavoring to eliminate a free-goal deficit. They nearly accomplished their objective, advancing to within a lone goal of the opposition, but during the remaining few minutes the City took no chances and hoisted to the sidelines at every chance, to win, 4 to 3.

It was an evenly-contested fight in the first half. The teams scoring a goal apiece. For all of thirty minutes of the last half the City squad had the better of play, sagging the hemp on three counts without a return. But then came the West's spirited rally, which just fell short of tying the score.

Harry Youssen's drive brought the goal to the ground to save, and before he could clear, Jack Payne kicked it out of his hands to open the City's score twenty minutes from the start. Victoria West attacked with stiff backs a few minutes later during a stiff Victoria West attack, which saved dozens of shots during the latter part of the second half. The Esquimalt forwards were clicking in fine shape, but once in the goal-mouth were always beaten by the versatile goalie.

The end of the game came with Esquimalt still hammering away at the Thistles' goal.

The teams were: Esquimalt—De Costa, Barnswell, Laird, Edwards, Robinson, McConnell, Smith, E. De Costa, Holmes, Worwick, Brown, Stewart, McAlister, Truhill and McBay.

Thistles—Elliott, Esler, Mowatt, McLean, Leggat, Crowe, Sage, Robins, Alexander, Watt and English.

Portland Bowler Sets High Mark

Jack Weimer Posts 717 in Open Singles in P.N.W. Bowling Congress

Vancouver, May 3. — Crashing the maples for a count of 717 as 234 bowlers from out-of-town points took part in an orgy of pin toppling in the twenty-fifth annual Pacific Northwest Bowling Congress today, Jack Weimer of Portland set a mark in the open singles which will be hard to beat before the tournament closes next Saturday night.

Only twice before has a score of 700 or over been rolled in the history of the Congress, and both were made in 1933 in Victoria, B.C., when Freddie Converse of Seattle won the event with a count of 735, and Ted Tadiach of Tacoma rolled into second place with 724.

Leadership changed hands with monotonous regularity in Commercial events during the day, while the open singles, doubles, and all-events lead also changed hands, as did the Booster singles, all-events and high single game.

Hanson Blue Prints of Portland still lead the open five-man event with a team total of 2,748. Ed. Dale (589) and E. Lane (580) of Longview, shot their way into first place in the open doubles with an aggregate of 1,169. Weimer's performance gives him first spot in the Open All-events and Open singles, while Jack Daniels of Shelton shows the way for high single game with his 258.

SHELTON TEAM LEADS

Leading in the commercial five-man event is the Mason County Laundry quintette of Shelton, Wash., with a score of 2,712, while the 1,196 shot by Joe Penowich (626) and M. Gray (570) of Tacoma gives them pride of place in the commercial doubles. Penowich is also leading the commercial singles with his 615, and Daniels' 258 is also high single in this class as well as in the open. H. Reese of Hillsboro, Ore., shot his way into

BOESCH WINS MAT FEATURE

Scores Victory Over LaDitizi; Referee Johnny Pears Takes Count

Wrestling fans were treated to something out of the general routine of finishes Saturday night at the Tillicum gym. This happened in the feature bout of the evening which brought together Rudy LaDitizi, Italian, and Paul "Bombshell" Boesch, New York.

The fourth round of the scheduled eight-round mix had progressed a number of minutes when suddenly an ill-directed drop kick by the "Bombshell" connected with the form of Referee Johnny Pears. It put him out of commission and he was aided from the ring. The pair continued to scrap, however, and Donald Clarke, Boston wrestler, who had appeared in the special event with Andy Moen, Minnesota, which ended in a no-fall draw, leaped through the ropes to take over the job.

An infuriated Boesch was pounding LaDitizi lustily in the fifth round to get even with him for some of the rough treatment he had absorbed, and LaDitizi poked himself through the ropes to compel the referee to pull Boesch off him. Which Clarke did, but while he had him in a hold that left Boesch helpless, LaDitizi laid a heavy elbow smash on the New Yorker's jaw and Boesch slumped to the canvas where the Italian fell on him.

REVERSES DECISION

Previous to this each had secured a fall. Anyway Referee Clarke figured LaDitizi had won the fight and raised his hand in victory. But when Pears painfully climbed back to declare that Boesch had been fouled, Clarke reversed his former decision by giving Boesch the fight. LaDitizi, who had played the part of the villain all

AFRAID to LOVE

By MARION WHITE © 1937 HRA SERVICE, INC.

Sybil reveals her jealousy of Joan and her fear that Bob will marry this "designed doll-faced stenographer."

CHAPTER II

The boys in the orchestra picked up their tiny megaphones and harmonized the chorus of their song. Light for the moment, were seductively named. The waddy spilted tone of the music gradually became tender. Unconsciously, the younger dancers pressed their cheeks a little closer; the older men tightened their hold about matronly waists. Bob Andrews, skirting the edge of the floor, manoeuvred his partner through an arched doorway on to a quiet side porch.

"There!" he said with satisfaction. "It's good to get out of that din."

"The music is perfect, Bob," Joan corrected.

"Maybe so. But I was crazy to bring you here tonight."

His eyes worshipped the clear-cut profile of her face, the proud lift of her chin, and his heart quickened to this chance of being alone.

Joan raised her eyebrows in mild surprise. "Why?" she asked, smiling up at him. "Don't your neighbors like me?"

"Like you!" They walked over to the porch railing. Below them on the terrace the greenery, festooned with gay red and yellow lanterns, gleamed brightly, and the reflection of the lights lent a glow of colorful enchantment to the porch.

"Like you!" Bob repeated, linking her arm more tightly in his. "Every man in the place is ready to eat alive for keeping you to myself this way."

Still looking down at her, he caught the beauty of that moment mirrored in her wide blue eyes.

"Joan, darling," he said with infinite tenderness, "do you know that you're the loveliest girl in all the world?"

"No. But I know that I'm the happiest—tonight." She smiled wistfully.

"Won't you share it, my dear?"

Joan dropped her eyes under his intense gaze.

"I could be the happiest man in the world tonight," he went on. "You could make me, Joan."

"When she did look up, there were tears glittering on her eyelashes.

"Bob, my dear! It's so impossible—so utterly—"

"Impossible to love me?"

She started, and for one brief instant read the answer in her eyes.

Then his arms were about her, his lips seeking hers. At first she struggled against him, then slowly, in resignation to a force stronger than her will, she gave herself up to the full ecstasy of his embrace.

Inside, the music struck a livelier note; the dancing became more spirited; voices raised in a babbling chorus. But here on the tiny porch, there were only two people in the world; two who had just discovered the answer to the everlasting mystery of life.

After a moment, he released her. She drew back, frightened at herself, and caught her breath sharply. Her eyes, as she looked up at him, were wide and fearful.

"You do love me, Joan. Don't try to deny it."

"Oh, Bob, please listen to me. I can't love you. I mustn't. Won't you understand? I couldn't ever make you happy..."

He shook his head, contradicting her words. He smiled joyfully down at her.

"I've made me happy, my darling. I'm the happiest man in the world, as I told you I would be. I'm going to marry you, Joan. Do you hear me? I'm not asking you to marry me... I've done that too often. I'm telling you, now, I'm going to marry you."

The music stopped abruptly. For a brief second there was a breathless stillness. Then, from far above them, the clock in the steeple of the inn struck one.

Joan slipped out of Bob's arms; she held him off at arm's length as she spoke to him.

"Bob," she said chokingly, "I'm being caught in some magic spell. I mustn't let it overcome me. I cannot marry you. No matter how we feel—"

"You mean there's someone else, Joan? Someone you've already married?"

"No. There's no one else. It's not as easy as that."

"Then what is it, my dear? Can't you tell me—so that we can work it out together?"

"I can't tell you, Bob. There's something in my life that I would rather die than have you find out, because if you did, you would hate me."

For a moment he stood there, looking into her secret. Then he made his decision.

"Listen to me, Joan," he said in all seriousness. "With all my heart, I love you. Whatever the past holds, we'll forget together. Whatever the future brings, we'll fight together. But I'm going to marry you."

She stopped abruptly, looking over her shoulder toward the doorway. Following her glance, he turned around, and his eyes were cold as Arctic ice.

"Hello, Sybil," Bob greeted cordially. As Sybil looked at him, her lips were smiling, and she forced a bright gayety into her voice. "Am I intruding?" she asked.

She came forward, extending both hands to Bob. Her eyes were in the shadows, so that he could not read the fierce anguish hidden in their depths.

"The course not, Sybil," Bob returned exuberantly. "And, listen, you shall be the first to hear that Joan is going to marry me. Wish us luck, Sybil!"

"Marry you?" She choked over the words, and her hand flew nervously to her throat. Quickly, however, she recovered herself. "Bob!" she exclaimed, and her tone was gay to the point of hysteria. "I'm simply overwhelmed with surprise!"

She did not wish him luck, she did not look at Joan. But Joan, too frightened and confused herself at Bob's irrevocable announcement, did not notice the change.

"I must tell your uncle, Sybil," Bob rushed on. "Know where he is?"

"No. No, I don't. Probably down at the bar..."

"We'll find him. Come along, Joan. I'm telling everybody before you try to back out."

Instantly the orchestra began "Auld Lang Syne," and the dancers were forming themselves into an enormous circle to sing the refrain. Merry voices called out cheery greetings to special acquaintances, and friendly hands reached out to draw elusive stragglers into the singing circle. Sybil watched Bob weave his way in and among them, his arms held protectively around a girl he had chosen in preference to her. She saw the glad light in his eyes as he refused to be drawn into the circle—the glad light which she had never been able to arouse.

It seemed as if all the world had suddenly stopped—as if the end of life had come as well. She was so cold that she shook like a leaf in the wind; yet in her brain a white-hot fire was raging—a fire of anger and jealousy and bitter hatred.

And through the mad flames that were her thoughts, one sentence rang out, loud and true and unforgettable: "There's something in my life that I would rather die than have you find out, because if you did, you would hate me."

She had heard the words distinctly and unmistakably. Now they seared themselves indelibly into her brain. Suddenly her white teeth flashed and she began to laugh, quietly at first, then so increasingly loud that those inside who heard her were a little startled.

night, was plenty mad about it all and for a few minutes after the bout had officially ended fireworks flew on their way to the exit to watch the fun. Boesch weighed 220 pounds, four less than LaDitizi.

In the semi-main event Earl McCready, Regina, defeated "Cowboy" Malott, Kansas, in straight falls. Punishing surfboard holds in the third and fourth forced Malott to throw out on both occasions.

In the opener Pat McGregor and Pat Morris fought to a no-fall draw.

Billboards scattered over the coast highways of the United States inviting motorists to "Follow the Birds to Victoria," have gone modernized, according to George I. Warren, publicity commissioner. The decorated highway signs, of which there are some fifty in number, extend their invitation to the tourist in three distinct types.

On Highway 101 the signs in bright colors inform the traveler that Victoria is the Canadian terminus of that highway, while others give information that this city is "a little bit of Old England." The familiar gulls in flight are a conspicuous feature of the sign advertising.

Thieves who were active over the week-end entered four premises but had little success, according to city police reports.

The only report of any loss was from E. W. Paiton who said thieves entered his hotel room last night and stole a pair of pants, a wallet containing $3 and a bunch of keys. The pants and the wallet were later found in another part of the hotel.

Mrs. A. McNeil, 1148 North Park Street, reported her home entered yesterday afternoon and the Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion clubrooms and Scott and Peden's store on Cormorant Street were entered last night. No losses were reported in these cases.

SUMMER DAYS HAVE ARRIVED

Thousands Get Sunburned As May Brings Sunshine

Victorians awoke this morning with their first sunburn of the season! Many arrived at their offices and stores with sore backs and shiny foreheads, but were happy in recollections of the first perfect week-end of the season.

The maximum temperature atop Gonzales Hill yesterday was only 61 degrees, but on beaches with a southern exposure and in sheltered places the thermometer climbed to 75 degrees.

Several hundred people went bathing, a number of them braving the icy waters of the Straits and the Gulf. It was a delightfully warm as they sunbathed on the sands and rocks.

Saturday was the warmest day of the week-end. It was 65 degrees in the afternoon. Today gave promise of being another warm day, although a sharp breeze from the snow-capped Olympics kept the thermometer down.

Summer sports were in full swing the week-end. The tennis courts were crowded in all parts of the city. Amateur gardeners appreciated a perfect day.

The forecast today is for continued fine weather. In the interior it is turning hot and Portland and Seattle reported temperatures of 82 degrees.

Before returning east at the end of the week Canon Cody will deliver the address to the graduating class of the University of British Columbia. His speech will be broadcast from coast to coast.

Death Follows Car Accident

Edward L. Devitt Succumbs to Injuries in Island Highway Accident

From injuries he sustained in an accident yesterday afternoon on the Island Highway, Edward L. Devitt, 61, of View Royal, died last night at 7:45 o'clock in the Jubilee Hospital.

According to Provincial Police, Mr. Devitt walked into the side of a car driven north on the Island Highway by Robert J. Ward, 2880 Colquitz Avenue.

The accident occurred about noon yesterday while Mr. Devitt was crossing the highway at the intersection of Helmcken Road. Mr. and Mrs. Ward and another eyewitness said that he had walked across the road as they approached and just as they came abreast of him he suddenly turned around and started to retrace his steps. He was reported to have walked into the side of Mr. Ward's car.

Mr. Devitt was unconscious when Sgt. Richard Harvey and Constable G. Davis of the B.C. Police arrived. He was rushed to the Jubilee Hospital in a C. & C. ambulance, but succumbed last night from a skull fracture.

Born in Bromley, England, Mr. Devitt had been a Vancouver Island resident for twenty-seven years. He had lived at Duncan and Rocky Point. During the war he served with the Royal Fusiliers in France.

He is survived by three brothers and four sisters, all in England. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday in Sands Mortuary at 2 o'clock. Rev. H. S. Payne will officiate and interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Inquest will be held at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Death Accident Jury's Verdict

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict in Case of Louis Paul Burbridge

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury at an inquest held in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors this morning in the case of Louis Paul Burbridge who was killed in a traffic accident on the corner of Port and Vancouver Streets Wednesday night.

Mrs. Madeline Grant said she identified the vehicle which hit Mr. Burbridge.

"I saw something fly up in the air and hit the street car track," she said. "It appeared to be a bag of tools. Then I saw the truck make a U turn and come slowly back. It was the truck with a little house on it."

On being recalled to the witness stand, Mrs. Grant could not say what speed the truck was going at.

Richard Johnson, operator of the street car on which the deceased rode just before his death, told the court that the deceased appeared to be in a daze and he saw him hesitate on the road after he closed the car's door.

At the next crossing, he let four people on, and a truck went by before he closed the doors and made a U turn in front of him. He identified the vehicle as the one owned by Andy Chimney Sweep's truck.

Thomas de Macedo said that the driver of the truck had paid a social call at his home just before the accident. He identified the driver as Thomas McLay.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, cautioned the jury that the evidence of the driver violating city ordinances should not be taken into account. He said that they could return either of two verdicts—manslaughter or accidental death.

Stuart Henderson appeared for Mr. McLay. Inspector John T. Boulton questioned the witnesses.

WAGE MEETING ON TOMORROW

Special Committee to Consider Salaries Prior to Council Session

The special city committee on salary readjustment prepared to meet early tomorrow to discuss revision of wages preparatory to bringing in a report at tomorrow afternoon's council meeting.

Alderman John Worthington, chairman of the committee, had no comment to make today on his views on the question, but stated schedules of wages had been prepared by the city comptroller for discussion by the committee.

The whole issue regarding salaries was referred to the special group at the council meeting. At that time some discussion was given to the employees' requests for restitution of part of the salary reductions they suffered five years ago.

The council did not vote on the question of restoring 5 per cent of the cuts, preferring to leave the matter for more detailed consideration by the committee. There was, however, a general expression of sympathy towards a move to raise the lower brackets before giving attention to those receiving higher pay.

FIVE CHINESE FACE CHARGES

Alleged to Have Struck Police Officers in Saturday Night Fracas

As the result of a fracas on Gorge Road last Saturday, five Chinese appeared on nine charges in the Saanich Police Court this morning.

Those charged were: Edward Lore, charged with being intoxicated and assaulting Sgt. P. K. Cummings of the Saanich police; Loy Sing, charged with being intoxicated and assaulting Sgt. Cummings and Constable Cecil P. G. Pearce; Lore Ching, charged with assaulting Sgt. Cummings and driving to the common danger, and Donald Wah and George Chan, both charged with being intoxicated.

The charges were the result of an attempt by Sgt. Cummings and Constable Pearce to check the car in which the accused were riding for fast driving.

When stopped, the Chinese were alleged to have threatened the officers and then struck them. Following the disturbance, the assistance of Constables Walter Andrews and Peris Atkinson was summoned from City Police headquarters to take the men to the lock-up.

Cleave G. White appeared for all the accused and the case was remanded until Thursday afternoon.

Alderman Archie Willis has been named by Mayor Andrew McGavin to represent Victoria at the San Francisco fiesta which will mark the opening of the Golden Gate Bridge. Mayor McGavin said he would recommend selection of Alderman Willis at tomorrow's council meeting. Delegates to the Portland Rose Festival have not yet been chosen, but it was understood the mayor and Aldermen James Adam, John A. Worthington and W. Lloyd Morgan would attend that event.

Perhaps the most graceful of all the new-type, vertical grand Pianos shown this year is the superb little Sherlock-Manning. The price is only $450, and from this will be given a liberal allowance for your present piano.

FINE PICTURE AT OAK BAY

"Lloyds of London" Scores Hit; Many in Cast

The emotional glory of a woman's love, the flaming courage of a hero's love, and the vengeful fury of a husband's hate bring intrigue, romance and adventure to new peaks in "Lloyds of London." Twentieth Century-Fox picture which opens today at the Oak Bay Theatre, the story of a love that changed the destiny of an empire.

Thyrone Power, as the enterprising head of the great underwriting firm, is destined for certain screen fame through his magnificent portrayal, opposite beautiful Madeleine Carroll, of a forbidden love, a romance which changed the fate of a nation.

Freddie Bartholomew is co-starred with Miss Carroll, and the cast also features Sir Guy Standing, C. Aubrey Smith and Virginia Field. Darryl F. Zanuck selected Henry King to direct with Kenneth Macgowan as associate producer.

HER HANDS WERE ALL OUT OF SHAPE

In Grip of Rheumatism for 15 Years

Here is a letter which shows the value of persevering with Kruschen: "For about two years I hardly went out. It was such a painful effort to walk owing to rheumatism. My hands and feet were the worst affected. I was unable to walk without a cane. I read so much about Kruschen, I decided to try it. I was three months before I felt any better, but I kept on and since then I have been fine and never used the cane. My hands were all out of shape, but they are almost normal now. Of course I could not expect to get better all at once, as I had suffered for 15 years before I started on Kruschen." —(Miss) A. L.

Rheumatism is frequently caused by an excess of uric acid in the blood. If you could see how Kruschen dissolves these uric acid deposits, then you would agree that the Kruschen treatment should bring relief in cases of rheumatism.

Robert Taylor Plays Opposite Her in "Private Number" Opening Today

Starring an exciting new love theme, handsome Robert Taylor and lovely Loretta Young, "Private Number," the new Fox triumph, at the Plaza Theatre, is being acclaimed one of the year's outstanding romantic hits.

Taylor's debonair manner and youthful banter complements Miss Young's beauty and wide-eyed appeal perfectly. And, added to the thrilling love story, is suspense, drama and comedy by the irrepressible Patsy Kelly. Basil Rathbone and Marjorie Gateson are also featured prominently in the supporting cast.

DICK POWELL AT THE ATLAS

Popular Singing Star Plays Opposite Madeleine Carroll in "On the Avenue"

One thing Hollywood chorus girls lack is "wedding-march rhythm," according to Director Roy Del Ruth, who discovered the novel shortcoming when filming a scene for the Irving Berlin musical, "On the Avenue," starring Dick Powell and Madeleine Carroll, now at the Atlas Theatre.

After three trial takes of a wedding scene, Del Ruth decided that swing-trained chorines cannot march sedately to the strains of the bridal march from "Lohengrin."

In addition to Dick Powell and Madeleine Carroll, the Irving Berlin musical features Alice Faye, the Ritz brothers and George Barbier. Darryl F. Zanuck, Twentieth Century-Fox production chief, picked Roy Del Ruth to direct, with Gene Markey as associate producer. The original screen play is by Markey and William Conselman.

Nelson Eddy In Brilliant Film

"Fifty Roads to Town," one of the smartest comedies to come from Hollywood this year will open its Victoria engagement at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

"Maytime," one of the most elaborate musicals attempted in Hollywood, opens at the Capital Theatre on Thursday. Two weeks of work remained after Eddy's last scenes were made.

Clever Comedy Opens Tomorrow

Don Ameche and Ann Sothern play the leading roles.

The screen play of "Fifty Roads to Town," based on the novel by Louis Frederick Nebel, was written by George Marion Jr. and William Conselman, one of the co-writers of "Ella Cinders."

Darryl F. Zanuck, vice-president in charge of production at Twentieth Century-Fox, chose Norman Taurog to direct, with Raymond Griffith as associated producer.

The second feature will be "That I May Live," starring Rochelle Hudson and Robert Kent.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Waikiki Wedding," a comedy of love and music in the South Seas, brings Bing Crosby, Bob Burns and Martha Raye to the Capitol Theatre today in another fit of burlesquing of the type that made "Rhythm on the Range" one of the outstanding comedies of last year.

This time Bing is a press agent—for a pineapple cannery in Hawaii—and in the furtherance of his campaign to keep Waikiki sold as the glamour spot of the universe it becomes necessary for him to fall in love with Miss Ross, who is about to walk out on a well-laid publicity scheme of his concoction.

ADJUDICATOR ASKS COMEDY

Too Much Gloom, Says Drama Festival Judge at Final Session

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 3.—Prize winners in the fifth Dominion Drama Festival which ended yesterday were:

Bessborough Trophy—The Toronto Maquers in "The House in the Quiet Glen," by John Coulter, Toronto Irish-Canadian.

Trophy for best performance in English apart from the Bessborough play—the Strolling Players of Vancouver in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and the Dramatic Club of the University College Alumnus Association, Toronto, in "The Cradle Song."

Trophy for best performance in French apart from the Bessborough Trophy play—Le Caveau of Ottawa in "Francoise."

Sir Barry Jackson Trophy for the best performance of a play written by a Canadian—The Toronto Maquers.

Lady Tweedsmuir's prizes for the best individual performances—Gay Scrivener of Vancouver in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and Frank Rostant of Toronto in "The House in the Quiet Glen."

Prizes given by Raymond Brugere, French Minister to Canada, for the best individual performances in French—Florence Castonguay of Ottawa in the title role of "Francoise" and Joseph Plante of Winnipeg as the station master in "Le Voyage a Biarritz."

Plans for more comedy and less gloom in the Dominion Drama Festival were made by Lord Tweedsmuir and Adjudicator Michel St. Denis just before finals of the fifth season closed.

"Tragedy," the Governor-General said in a short speech from the stage of the Little Theatre, "is a great thing, but it should be pretty well leavened with comedy."

Lord Tweedsmuir congratulated all those concerned in the festival on taking part in a work of real national importance.

"I have always believed," he said, "that some day Canada will produce a great literature." He added the festival encouraged his hope.

M. St. Denis suggested the amateur dramatic movement might be developed eventually into a professional theatre, "a real Canadian professional theatre."

Again he remarked the number of gloomy plays. "Can I ask for the future that you try to choose as many comedies and farces as possible," he said. "It will stop you from thinking you have a holy mission to perform."

He suggested it would be beneficial to see more French plays produced at the festival. "More French shows would be good because if the French culture was more completely represented the emulation between the two races would be keener."

The convention will close with a grand banquet in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium on Thursday evening, followed by a dance.

Women of the order will meet in the Shrine Hall, View Street, Wednesday and Thursday.

Dorothy Dix

A YOUNG MAN who belongs to a fine and cultured family that for generations has stood for the things that are the most admirable in humanity has fallen in love with a pretty girl who was born and reared "on the wrong side of the tracks," as the phrase goes, and whose people are uneducated, shiftless and thriftless and given to drunken brawls. Naturally the boy's parents object strenuously to the match. "But," says the enamored youth, "I am marrying Rosie. I am not marrying her family."

This is a mistake into which those who have had no personal experience of matrimony often fall. Nothing is more common than to hear a boy say: "I can't stand Mary's sloppy old mother, but, thank Heaven, I am not marrying Mary's family." Or a girl will say: "John's family are just perfectly awful, my dear, but I am not marrying them, praise be."

But after John and Mary get married, they find to their surprise and consternation, that they are not more to each other's families; that nothing but death or the divorce court can part them from each other's parents, sisters, brothers, cousins, aunts and all the afflictions and drawbacks that go with them.

Of course, the men and women who marry into families below them think that to separate their wives and husbands from their own people is as simple as it is to pluck the one perfect flower from a straggly bush and ride away and forget all about the plant that bore it, but family ties are not so brittle as that, nor are family obligations so easily evaded.

Because John Poorman marries into the aristocratic De Vere family doesn't make him cease to love his mother or forget how she loved the wash tub to put him through college, nor does it make him love his socialite wife for snubbing his mother and treating her like an interloper when she comes to pay them a visit.

Because Susie's marriage took her from Poverty Flat to Easy Street doesn't make her callously indifferent as to whether her family starve or not, or less anxious to give her old parents a few luxuries and to send a pretty sister a new dress and to help a wild brother out of trouble.

So Miss De Vere find that, after all, she has married her husband's family, and unless she alienates his affections from her completely she has to make his people as welcome in their home as her own, and send the baby as often to see Grandma Poorman as she does Grandma Mother Millionbucks. The rich man discovers that when he married the poor girl he also married her family and took them on to support.

Furthermore, every one who takes a husband or wife not only marries their families, and also all that they have done and been for centuries. All of us are what heredity and environment have made us. Our traits of character come down to us through long lines of ancestors. Our principles, our points of view, our habits, our manners and our morals are what our fathers and mothers taught us.

If parents have a high code of conduct that they live up to; if they are broad-minded and just and generous; if they are honest and honorable; if they are industrious and ambitious, ninety-nine times out of a hundred their children will be that way, too, and safe matrimonial bets. Good families to marry. But a man or woman is taking a long shot at happiness who marries a woman or man whose family tree has borne only rotten fruit.

Hence the young should quit deluding themselves with the fallacy that when they marry they only marry the individual, not his or her family. John marries Mary's mother's virtues or her faults; her culture, her thriftiness, her usefulness, OR her ignorance, her carelessness, her loose morals. Mary marries John's father's good qualities or his bad; his courage, his uprightness, his chivalry, OR his meanness, his stinginess, his belief that a wife is nothing but an unpaid servant who calls for no consideration.

And inasmuch as this is true and that when you marry you marry the whole family, it is just as important to pick out the family you desire for life companions as it is to choose the individual man or woman you want for a husband or wife.

Stanley's Adventures in Africa

—START OF A GREAT JOURNEY

Henry Stanley was born in Wales, and his name at first was John Rowlands. Becoming an orphan at the age of two, he spent most of his childhood in a workhouse. At the age of eighteen he obtained a place as a cabin boy aboard a vessel which sailed to New Orleans. There he was adopted by a merchant named Henry Morton Stanley, and his name was made the same as his foster-father's. The merchant died two years later, and left the young man nothing but his name.

During the first few weeks there was no trouble about food—zebras and antelopes supplied enough meat. Later, however, the party had to pass through a waste country, where game was hard to find. The natives were so small that some of the men grew weak. The bites of insects added to the misfortune, and there also came weeks of wet weather in which they could not travel. They guarded themselves as well as they could from the pouring rain by staying inside tents.

Inside of two months, Stanley lost more than thirty pounds in weight. Some of the natives fell sick, suffering from fever and other ailments. Before the end of January nineteen of the natives had died, and eighty-nine had left the party to go back to their homes. One of the white men also died, a victim of typhoid fever.

Henry Stanley

During his young manhood, Stanley passed through a series of adventures, then became a reporter for The New York Herald. The newspaper sent him to Spain, and also to Ethiopia. Later he was asked to make a journey into a wild part of eastern Africa to find a lost explorer named David Livingstone. Meeting success on this trip, the reporter became world-famous.

When Livingstone died, Stanley said to himself: "The work of this great man must not be stopped. I will go on with it myself, and will explore parts of Africa never visited by white men before."

After making ready on the island of Zanzibar, some miles off the east-central coast of Africa, Stanley set out on his journey. His party was made up of three white men besides himself, and 380 natives. With them they took a supply of food, along with bales of cloth and trinkets which they expected to use in trading with savage tribes along the way. They also carried a boat called the Lady Alice. The boat was in sections which could be put together when needed.

It was a mid-November day in the year 1874 when the start was made. At first they traveled straight westward then turned north toward Lake Victoria.

"The food taken on the trip was made up of rice, tea and other things which would last a long time without fruits, but also new underwear and house robes.

Tarzan's Quest

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

As Muviro fell unconscious, several of his men tried to rise and hurl themselves upon their betrayers. At a word from Udale, the Bukens warriors leaped up, but their steady spears were not needed, for one by one the stricken Waziri collapsed upon the ground.

The tribesmen gazed in amazement upon this strange sight, for only Udale and one woman knew that Gunguis had dragged them. And now the glowing witch-doctor leaped among the fallen Waziri and beat his chest triumphantly. "Great is the magic of Gunguis!"

"Kill!" a woman shouted, and others took up the blood-thirsty refrain. "Kill the friends of the Kavuru who steal our girls!" But Udale put an end to their cries by ordering that the strangers be bound and placed in the hut whence Tarzan had escaped.

"Those will not escape," he shouted, "and now I shall send runners to all the villages of the Bukens, far and near. Then, when the moon is full on the second night, all will dance and feast and make merry—and eat the hearts of our enemies!"

How To Overcome Itching Piles

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from MacFarlane and Vancouver Drugs Stores or any druggist, a package of hemorrhoid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemorrhoid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.
